GOEBEL BREAKS CONTINENTAL RECORD

DALLAS WOMAN KILLS MAN; TAKES OWN LIFE

WINNER OF RACE TO HAWAII MAKES FAST TRIP EAST

RECORD NON-STOP FLIGHT BESTED BY SEVERAL HOURS BY ART GOEBEL

CURTISS FIELD, N. Y., Aug. 20. (AP)—Art Goebel landed here at 11:26 a. m., after a non-stop flight from California which broke the existing record by almost six hours.

Goebel's first act as he stepped from the plane, the first to make the transcontinental non-stop flight from west to east, was to glance at his watch.

"Eighteen hours and 58 minutes," he exclaimed.

The record for transcontinental flight, made in the opposite direction was 26 hours, 50 minutes, 48 seconds, set by Lieutenant John A. McCready and Oakley Kelly in 1923.

Goebel stumbled from the stiffness induced by the long flight. He recovered himself quickly, however, and said he was not tired. "More hungry than anything else," he said.

He watched the "Yankee Doodle" until it was safely lodged in a hangar, unspotted by oil or grime despite the distance it had covered, then turned to greet the small group which had collected at the field to awit his arrival.

Arrived at 11:08.

Harry Tucker of Santa Monica, Calif., companion and backer of Goebel on the flight, said he had timed the plane's arrival above Curtiss field at 11.08 a. m., Eastern daylight time. The monoplane made a few circles of the field before landing at 11:26.

Goebel said he had flown at altitudes of from 8000 to 10,000 feet all the way, with favoring winds. The plane passed over Albuquerque, N. M., Wichita, Kas., St. Louis, and Columbus, Ohio, soaring above the latter city at dawn today.

"Good morning, Frank," said Goebel, smiling to Frank R. Tichenor, editor of Areo Digest, who hurried to the side of the plane as it taxied to rest.

The "Yankee Doodle" had 90 gallons of gasoline left of the 450 gallons stored in the tanks when she left Mines field. She had averaged 150 miles an hour.

BELIEVED STEAMER WITH FOURTEEN MEN LOST IN PACIFIC

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Reports that the steamer William S. McKenney was lost with 14 men during a storm off the California coast, gained credence here Sunday when the motor ship Santos, of the Johnson Line, arrived and reported losing Second Officer Karl Tsacson, who was washed overboard during a heavy sea off the California coast.

The accident occurred August 9 about midnight and as the second officers presence on the deck was unknown to the others of the crew, he was not missed for some time. The current was very strong and the captain of the Santos was convinced Tsacson had perished almost immediately. The fury of the elements was so great the captain said, that the ship's engines had to be stopped, and the Santos drifted helplessly until the storm abated the next day. Though showing signs of her battle with the storm, the Santos was not sufficiently damaged to prevent continuing the voyage to Hull, England.

DALLAS, Aug. 20. (AP)—Mrs. E. M. Wilson, 34, shot and killed Leroy Simerly, 32, here today and then placed the pistol against her breast and took her own life.

The tragedy occurred at the home of Mrs. Wilson. Her daughter, Dorothy Walker, 16, was sleeping in the next room. She awaked at the shot that killed Simerly and was at the telephone summoning a doctor when her mother fired the fatal shot into her breast.

"Call a doctor," Dorothy said her mother told her as she ran into the room and saw Simerly lying on the floor. A moment after she left the room she heard the second shot and returned to find her mother lying beside Simerly. Both were dead when police arrived. An automatic pistol was found beside the bodies.

HOOVER MOVES THROUGH TWO DEBATABLE STATES TO ENTER REPUBLICAN KANSAS MONDAY

HOOVER TRAIN, En Route to Kansas City, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover came into Kansas today to receive word from Senator Arthur Capper and other party leaders that the home state of his running mate, Senator Charles Curtis, will roll up a majority of more than 200,000 for the Republican presidential ticket in November.

With David Mulvane, national committeeman for Kansas, and others, Senator Capper boarded the Hoover train early today at the first stop in Kansas, Dodge City, where several thousand persons gave the Republican presidential candidate an enthusiastic greeting.

Responding to the cheers, Mr. Hoover told the crowd it was too early in the morning for a political speech, but that he did want to express his appreciation and that of Mrs. Hoover for the fine courtesy shown them by the assemblage of such a large crowd.

HOOVER TRAIN EN ROUTE TO KANSAS CITY, Kas., Aug. 20.—Having put behind him the admittedly debatable ground of Arizona and New Mexico, Herbert Hoover came today to rock ribbed republican Kansas to continue conferences with republican leaders as his train moves on to his old birthplace at West Branch, Iowa.

The republican presidential candidate's schedule called for five stops at Dodge City, Hutchinson, Newton, Emporia, and Topeka, home of his running mate, Senator Charles Curtis, who was unable to remain to greet the head of the ticket because of engagements in the east.

David Mulvane, national committeeman, Senator Arthur Capper and J. N. (Poly) Tincher, former representative, were among the party leaders who were to board the train as it crossed the state.

Following his usual practice, Hoover will make brief rear end platform talks at the Kansas cities with a more extended one at the state capital.

From Topeka his train will go to Kansas City, Missouri, with Mayor Albert I. Beach and others planning a reception at the station while the special train is being switched to the Rock Island lines for the overnight run to West Branch.

While crossing New Mexico, the republican candidate was joined by nearly a hundred of his party leaders, both men and women, who conveyed information that the race in their state promised to be hotly contested. He received the same information Saturday regarding Arizona, but those in charge of party affairs in each state expressed hope of victory in November.

Senator Bronson Cutting and Gov. R. C. Dillon were of the opinion the issue in New Mexico would be decided largely on the personalities of the republican and democratic candidates and on the wet and dry issue, with the prohibition question cutting across party lines. Asked if Hoover's prohibition declaration in his acceptance speech had been accepted as a "bone dry" pronouncement, Senator Cutting said it would all depend upon what one meant by "bone dry," that the general interpretation was that the republican nominee stood for the eighteenth amendment and its enforcement.

Tabooing politics because of the Sabbath, Hoover spoke to the crowds at a number of places. At Albuquerque he paid tribute to the citizenship of New Mexico which he said was being developed from the blending of English, Spanish and Indian civilizations.

HEARING OPENED ON APPLICATION OF ROADS CHANGE RATES

ONE OF MOST IMPORTANT CASES IN HISTORY OF TEXAS COMMISSION

AUSTIN, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The state railroad commission opened a hearing today on perhaps the most far reaching and important case in its history—the application of Texas railroads for authority to apply within the state the new milage scale freight rates recently promulgated by the Interstate Commerce commission for application interstate in the southwest on numerous commodities.

General effect of the rates, if authorized for Texas, would be to lessen the cost of long hauls and increase charges for shorter hauls.

The rates proposed would apply to practically all important products except what are known as the "heavy moving" commodities such as cotton, lumber and the like.

Several Texas shippers affected by the probable increase in short haul charges are expected to oppose the railroads' application.

The hearing will last several days. Direct testimony of the railroads and shippers favoring their proposition will be heard first.

With more than 150 rate experts, lawyers, representatives of chambers of commerce, shippers bureaus and others attending, the hearing got under way half an hour late. The crowd was so large, Chairman Clarence E. Gilmore of the commission had the hearing moved to the senate chamber.

U. S. Pawkett of the San Antonio chamber of commerce, gave notice the shippers will propose eliminaton of existing differential rate schedules, except those deemed imperative for short or weak railroads.. Differentials are rates added to the prevailing common rates.

H. B. Cummings, assistant chairman of the Texas tariff bureau, Dallas, declared the railroads will noht waive their privilege of 10 days notice on any commodity rate change not specifically included in the scope of his hearing.

At a meeting of shippers before the hearing opened, Ed P. Byars of the Fort Worth freight bureau was elected chairman of a committee to arrange the program of freight commodities to be taken up one by one in the hearing. This committee will work with a railroad committee.

Monday forenoon was taken up with preliminary statements by shippers' representatives as to what they expect to oppose or advocate in the way of rate changes. These statements fere of a highly technical nature, couched in general terms.

NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER TAKES STAND AGAINST HIS PARTY'S NOMINEE, HOOVER

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover's views on prohibition and a naval program as set forth in his speech of acceptance are rejected by Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University and a life-long republican.

In a letter printed by the New York Times today Mr. Butler breaks silence on politics he has maintained since the Kansas City convention. He expresses confidence that millions of earnest republicans are in agreement with him.

Referring to prohibition the letter says:

"What I wish to make entirely plain is that no candidate of my party for president can commit me or countless others like me to any such doctrines or any such policies." In this connection Dr. Butler quotes Patrick Henry: "If this be treason make the most of it."

In regard to Mr. Hoover's "acceptance of the timeworn but wholly false argument that what he described as 'adequate preparation for defense' is a factor in co-operation in the maintenance of peace," Dr. Butler writes: "The contrary is now the well demonstrated fact."

Dr. Butler describes the 18th amendment as "an alien and unnaturalized invader of the constitution," saying it must be deported if the constitution is to be preserved."

CLOAN, Perthshire, Scotland, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Viscount Haldane of Cloan, equally famous as philosopher and statesman, and war minister in one of the most critical periods in British history, died today after a long illness. He was 72.

Despite his famous declatation that "Germany is my spiritual home" which finally forced his retirement from the British cabinet, Lord Haldane is credited with the reorganization of the British army that took place between the years 1905 and 1914 and permitted Great Britain to send a strong expeditionary force to France within a few days after the great war began.

It was his initiative that brought about a revision of the British general staff and the creation of a new army of "Territorials," although to accomplish his purpose he had to fight the opposition of his own political party and that of some of his colleagues in the Asquith ministry.

Richard Burdon Haldane, created first viscount of Cloan in 1911, was born in Scotland in 1856 of an old Scotch family. He was educated in Edinburgh University and later studied philosophy at Goettingen, Germany, where he first acquired his eargerness in the pursuit of German thought.

Lord Haldane was possessed of ample means but early entered the law, where he made his name distinguished as an advocate and jurist.

He entered the British government in 1905 as secretary of state for war in the ministry of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, and retained that portfolio until he was named lord high chancellor of England in 1912.

His early love for German scholarship told profoundly against him after the war commenced, and despite his record in creating a new British army, he was excluded from the coalition ministry formed in 1915 to carry on the war.

Britain Mourns Statesman.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The death of Viscount Haldane of Cloan has thrown Britain into mourning for a man who though "treated with the basest ingratitude by his country," as ex-Premier Lloyd-George put it, nevertheless is recognized as having been one of the greatest war ministers Britain ever produced.

Lord Haldane, in his seventy-second year, died of a heart attack at his home in Cloan yesterday.

Lord Haldane entered the British cabinet in 1905 as secretary of state for war which portfolio he retained until he was named Lord High Chancellor of England in 1912. While head of the war office, perceiving tho eventuality of Britain being involved in a war with Germany, he brought about a revision of the British general staff and the creation of a new army of "Territorials." This reorganization permitted Britain to send a strong expeditionary force to France within a few days after the great war began.

But despite his foresight in preparing for the eventuality of war, Lord Haldane retained a love for German scholarship that excluded him from the coalition cabinet formed in 1915 to carry on the war. His declaration that "Germany is my spiritual home" is credited with having forced him from the cabinet and resulted in a popular misunderstanding of his attitude.

Winston Churchill described Haldane as one of the "very few great war ministers" that Britain ever has produced.

CHEMIST BELIEVED FATALLY BURNED IN ETHER EXPLOSION

DALLAS, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Henry T. Herndon, 26, chemist of Greenville, was probably fatally injured and R. C. Pope, Dallas, was severely burned about the hands, face and head as the result of the explosion of a three-gallon container of ether in the Southwestern laboratories here today.

The explosion occurred when Herndon went to a small room at the rear of the laboratories to obtain some ether. Employees in the front office heard an explosion and a moment later saw Herndon run from the room, his clothing ablaze.

Pope, first to reach him, was burned when he attempted to tear Herndon's clothing from his body. Herndon was taken to the emergency hospital, where attendants said he had little chance for recovery.

The building was only slightly damaged by the explosion.

ARCTIC CONCEALED FATE OF AMERICANS IN LATEST SEA HOP

NOTHING IS HEARD FROM GREATER ROCKFORD SINCE EARLY SUNDAY MORNING

CHICAGO, Aug. 20. (AP)—Arctic seas that pound against Greenland's icy shores today concealed the fate of Bert Hassell's attempt to fly from Cochrane, Ont., to Mt. Evans, Greenland, in the monoplane Greater Rockford.

Not since 3 a. m., central standard time Sunday has any word come from Hassell and his companion, Parker Cramer who left Cochrane at noon Saturday on the second lap of a good will flight from Rockford, Ill., to Stockholm, Sweden.

That last message, picked from the air by wireless operators at Madison, Wis., was only the letter "R," repeated several times, and then the plane's call letters, KHAH. The "R," however, indicated in the pre-arranged code that the Greater Rockford was 75 miles off Cape Chidley, flying over Davis Straits. It meant the plane had completed approximately three-quarters of its 1,600 miles journey toward Mt. Evans.

No Sign of Plane.

Don Mix, Madison, Wis., operator, who had kept vigil at his wireless set through Saturday night and Sunday, was in communication with the station at Mt. Evans last night. The operator there told him there had been no sign nor word of the plane. Mix then ask-

A PROSPERITY RESERVE.

Back in 1921 at President Harding's unemployment conference Owen D. Young recommended creation of a "prosperity reserve" to be used in time of unemployment and business depression. Congress has done nothing but talk about it in the seven years that have elapsed. The Jones bill, which embodies the principle, was all but killed by the present congress in its last session. It will come up again at the short session next winter.

Under the Jones bill congress would set aside $75,000,000 for rural post roads, $50,000,000 for river and harbor improvements, $10,400,000 for flood control and $15,000,000 for public buildings. This money would be available whenever the president finds that the nation's construction operations have fallen 10 per cent below normal.

The theory, as expressed by Mr. Young in 1921, is: "Holding back public works and private construction for periods of depression not only give employment to large numbers of workers when it is most needed, but creates a demand for raw materials for construction, which in turn stimulates other industries to offer employment."

If the people want a prosperity reserve created, their first step should be the election of a Democratic president and congress. They can expect no relief in this direction from the party in power for it has stubbornly refused to concede the existence of unemployment and depression. Judging from its platform, the Republican party is too much concerned with past prosperity to think of present and future prosperity. Perhaps the present and preceding administrations would be riding over smooth, hard-have taken this practical step toward permanent prosperity had it favored some special interest instead of the workers and taxpayers.

KNOW TEXAS.

Texas produces large quantities of lime stone. The annual value of the product is about $2,500,000.

The production of sulphur in Texas reaches more than 1,500,000 pounds and the value ranges as high as $512,000,000.

The annual value of Texas mineral production has increased from $5,316,000 in 1900 to more than $350,000,000 at present.

In an attempt to prove something or other, a Princeton educator points out that the average American each year spends $11 on candy and eight cents to pay professors but it wouldn't be much fun eating a professor.

Lots of people ought to be glad they are anywhere.

LEADERS ARE PRESENT.

There is an old saying that a great crisis will produce a great leader, and if this is true it should follow that a leader measuring up to the requirements of any situation, critical or otherwise, will arise out of it. This opinion is offered in the face of statements that recent deaths have taken from present-day ranks most of those worthy of being called leaders. The attitude appears to be an unjust one and an indication of failure to take into consideration qualities that never are the sole possession of any generation and which pass away with the departure of those whom their contemporaries regard as great and conspicuous figures.

They forget the time when they, as younger members of the citizenry, heard the same criticism from older men, who peered back at leaders whom they had idolized and had seen passing on, and who looked with scorn on those to whom the more youthful element pinned their hopes. At all times it is the person whom age has made a little riper than the one just beneath him in the matter of years who thinks the world of letters, industry, politics or science has just about come to an end when death takes someone well known to him and he can see no one to take his place. Quite peculiarly the real exultation of prominent persons seldom takes place until after death. Living, they are subject to criticism or laudation, according to the camp from which comment comes. If life for them has been long and full of service they may have been recognized as leaders while they were living, but fienerally it is after they have departed that the disputations are silenced and the recognition of leadership comes.

There are leaders now but only the young will recognize them, with the exception of the outstanding few. They must fight their way forward, just as their predecessors have done, and, departing, the void they leave will be a matter of grief to those who will say "there are no more leaders." It is an error that persists in the face of proof to the contrary.

RIGHTS AND DUTIES.

Our faith in freedom is based on the belief that every human soul has its own sovereign rights—rights that are not merely granted by society but are an essential of the human character. Since society is nothing apart from the men and women of which it is fashioned, it can never ignore this right of freedom without courting its own destruction.

Yet this freedom is not the freedom for men to do as they please. Even in primitive society this freedom is denied, and the complex demands of civilization deny it in a thousand ways. When men agree to live together for the sake of work or happiness, they set limits to their behavior and agree to live beneath a code and law.

Yet the right of freedom remains. It is a right not to natural but to spiritual freedom. Its most vital doctrine is that men have the right to think as they please.

Man as a member of society has duties rather than rights. As an individual his rights are supreme. The problem of society is to appoint to each man his duties while scrupulously protecting his rights. For in the right of men to think as they please lies the only hope for the endurance and perfection of society.

SOCIAL VANDALISM.

Dr. Frederick B. Robinson, president of the City College of New York, warns the age against "a movement abroad in the world during the last five years" that threatens the progress, intellectual, social and moral, of civilization. Addressing the graduating class of the New York Training School for Teachers, he said:

"These people involved in this movement defy government, break moral code and even offend taste in fields of art, music and literature, asserting there are no standards."

Many thoughtful Americans have felt deep concern over the influence exerted by that group of individuals who scoff at the standards. These scoffers—most of whom parade under the banner of the so-called intelligencia—seem to take delight in attempting to destroy the old standards without troubling themselves to erect new standards in their place. They flaunt their belief in the "supremacy of the individual" and place mere personal opinions, desires and comforts above those of society as a whole. Their theory is individualism gone mad.

No nation believes more firmly in the rights of the individual than the American nation. Yet there are limits beyond which individualism may not go without serious consequences to society. Nations, in their everyday living and business pursuits, must be governed by standards of some sort. Without them there is social chaos. If the existing standards are wrong, by all means let them be torn down. But unless those who do the destroying likewise offer better standards in their place, they merely indulge in social vandalism. The race has always needed guides for conduct. It needs them today as much as ever.

SLAVES OF CUSTOM.

Dumb animals are said to be the slave of instinct. A majority of scientists believe it. Human beings are said to be the slave of custom. Every man and woman believes it without proof of science. Man goes through life doing things he doesn't want to and doesn't have to do.

Tipping is one of these customs which are observed but not revered. Many persons proffer the barber's, porter's and bootblack's tip because they wish to. But many others, both men and women do not believe in tipping and do so only through the fear of violating a social custom. They are slaves to the custom of tipping.

A very commonplace custom, the violators of which acquire the reputation of being eccentric, is that of determining by the calendar, instead of by the weather, man's season for wearing straw hats. Women have severed the bonds of the custom as far as it applies to themselves by making hats of straw fashioned in all sorts of weather.

These are only two of countless instances where people bitterly rebel in speech against, but religiously practice, a custom. The only penalty for nontipping is the loss of the artisan's thanks and unseasonable straw hat can provoke nothing more serious than snickers and smiles. Yet those who betray either custom experience the feeling of the hunted criminal or the bashful swain who dreams of finding himself in the public square in his nightshirt. Society seems to find it easier to break laws than customs.

EDUCATION VIA THE SCREEN.

The University Film Foundation, with the aid of the physical resources of Harvard University, is producing educational films along lines which should prove of great benefit to schools and universities.

Except for historical films, the educational possibilities of the motion picture have not been developed up to their full strength. The handicap has been the lack of facilities with which to work. The co-operation between the film foundation and Harvard is making possible the production of films extremely useful to smaller institutions not as abundantly endowed with equipment.

In process of production are films on fundamental studies, such as botany, zoology, chemistry, geology, anthoropology and the fine arts. Future production plans contemplate films on subjects relating to medicine, public health, physical education, industry and commerce. Eventually nearly every field of learning and human pursuit will be brought to the screen.

Correlated with regular courses of study educational films should provide a ready and practical means of furthering the spread of education. The enterprise opens up possibilities of extension work such as no university has ever attempted before.

Properly produced, the new films will meet with instant demand from public schools ,institutions of higher learning, museums, clubs, churches, libraries and other groups and institutions. The good they will do will be inestimable, but apparent to all.

INVESTING ABROAD.

The state department at Washington has talked in vain against further American investments abroad. While it talked, Americans were lending $1,053,000,000 to foreign borrowers during the first six months of this year. That was an increase of nearly $300,000,000 over the corresponding period in 1927.

There are two explanations for the state department's policy. Either it fears the European financial structure is still unsound and may collapse with great loss to American investors, or its opposition is due to the knowledge that these loans involve the United States in European politics and, impose upon the American government the responsibility of protecting them.

Doubtlessly there is something in the latter reason, but it might work both ways. If Americans were lending to only one European nation, the lenders might prevail upon their government to protect their interests by favoring the borrowing nation should it get into trouble. As all the European powers are borrowing the government must favor them all. Wars have been prevented by financial tie-ups such as this.

Whatever the future may bring, Americans investing in foreign securities may know that they are hastening the rehabilitation of European industry and restoration of war-torn cities. During the second quarter of this year the investment offerings of foreign corporate enterprises exceeded for the first time the offerings from governmental sources.

Dollar bills are to be one-third smaller next year. Incidentally, why does a dollar look bigger when it is coming than after it arrives?

ELIGIBILITY OF MEMBER ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH QUESTIONED AT INSTITUTE

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Turmoil engulfed the University of Virginia's Institute of Public Affairs late yesterday when the presidential eligibility of a Roman Catholic was openly challenged from the speaker's rostrum.

A distinguished audience of public officials, political scientists and newspaper editors greeted with a storm of boos, cat-calls and shouts an assertion that Governor Smith as a devout Catholic is "obedient to the doctrine" of a church that "has never relented by a syllable its resolute claim to primacy over the state."

The speaker was the Rev. Albert C. Dieffenbach of Boston, a prominent Unitarian clergyman and editor of the Christian Register. He declared religion the paramount issue of the presidential compaign, and accused the press of attempting to obscure it in a "smoke screen."

His remarks were immediately disputed by the publisher of the Richmond News Leader, John Stewart Bryan.

"I am going to vote for Al Smith." he shouted, "primarily to show that this country is big enough not to be dictated to by bigotry."

Others clamored for recognition and Victor Rosewater of Philadelphia, the chairman, limited each to a few minutes. The discussion finally became so heated that he brought the debate to a close.

Professor John H. Latane of John Hopkins University declared that if Smith should be defeated in the South it would mean the "triumph of intolerance and hypocracy." Professor Thomas H. Reed of the University of Michigan said if the Hoover campaign should place any emphasis upon the religious question he would vote for Smith.

The hope that voters would not be swayed from supporting Hoover by an exaggerated spirit of tolerance was expressed by Willis J. Abbott, editor of the Christian Science Monitor, while Professor A. H. Hatton of Northwestern University said it could not be denied that the "avowed dogma," of the Catholic church aroused suspicion and placed the American Catholic in an unfortunate position.

Arising to his own defense, Mr. Dieffenbach declared that his remarks were not prompted by any fear of the Roman Catholic church.

"It is my love of liberty," he said, "and I warn you of the encroachment. It has been beaten in Mexico, in Italy and in France, so why should we not be warned and avoid the strife."

CREAGER PREDICTS REPUBLICANS WILL CARRY TEXAS VOTE

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 17.—(AP)—A republican presidential vote of 500,000 in Texas was predicted here by R. B. Creager of Brownsville, republican national committeeman for Texas, who stopped here today on his return from California where he attended the notification ceremonies for Herbert Hoover, republican presidential nominee.

Creager said there is every indication that a republican nominee will carry the state for the first time in history. He estimated that 200,000 republicans in the state would vote for Hoover and that at least 300,000 anti-Smith democrats would scratch the democratic ticket to vote for Hoover. The latter figure, he said, he arrived at by giving Hoover most of the votes cast for Thomas B. Love in the primary. These votes, he said, represent the votes of dry democrats. Fully 100,000 more dry democrats in the state, he believes, did note vote for Love, but will vote for Hoover because Hoover's opponent is an outspoken wet.

Creager plans to rest a few days in Brownsville before making a swing around the whole state to consolidate the Hoover and the anti-Smith forces.

WHITE RACE HAS NO REASON ALARM COLORED PEOPLES

AMERICAN PROFESSOR DECLARES WHITES INCREASING MORE THAN ANY RACE

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 17.—(AP)—White people have no cause for alarm at the rate of increase in the colored races, Professor R. D. McKenzie, University of Washington, said in an address before the Institute of Politics today.

"If there is any rising tide of color," he said, "it is that of the white race. The white population of the world during the past 100 years has increased much faster than all the colored peoples put together, and the fear on the part of the white man that the Orientals will eventually outbreed him has no basis in fact."

Dr. Otto Hoetzsch, professor of history at the University of Berlin, in a lecture last night on the political parties of Germany, declared the German people would do all in their power to overcome the difficulties now confronting them in order to meet the reparation obligation.

HOOVER'S FORMAL BID FOR SPPORT MADE IN SOUTH

PROHIBITION, RELIGION AND FARM RELIEF NOW CLEAR-CUT ISSUES

By BYRON PRICE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. —(AP)— The democratic bid for the farm states and the republican invasion of the South both have come into clearer perspective during another week of political activity paced by the fast-stepping issues of prohibition, religion and farm relief.

Governor Smith apparently has taken into camp a considerable group of farm leaders, who are beginning to suit their actions to the words of challenge that rang through the republican convention hall at Kansas City. Secretary Hoover, now the formally-ordained captain of republican destines, has given his personal attention to the call of dry Southern democrats for his leadership.

The religious issue, has been publicly pronounced the paramount question of the campaign of a leader of bolting democrats in Alabama and a religious editor from Boston. There are many who do not agree with them, and the debate goes on in tumultuous, sharp-worded fashion.

Names of many other issues appear but if any conclusion can be drawn from opening scenes, it is unmistakably that the central theme of the party is being carried forward by that trio of rejuvenated veterans of the political stage—prohibition, farm relief and religion.

Farm Relief Prominent.

Farm relief has stood most often before the foot lights during the past week. Mr. Hoover's farm pronouncement, in his speech of acceptance was received with much republican applause in the farm country. Former Governor Lowden, silent since the nomination of his rival on a farm plank not of the Lowden pattern, issued a statement of praise tempered by an expression of doubt as to the working of the Hoover farm aid plan. In Iowa, a hotbed of McNary-Haugenism, Governor Hammill, Senator Brookhart and every congressman except Representative Haugen, lauded the Hoover pronouncement.

On the democratic side, Governor Smith's conference with farm leaders at Albany was impressive partly because the group included two who had been delegates to the Kansas City convention, Earl C. Smith of Illinois and Frank W. Murphy of Minnesota. Publicly the group went no further at Albany than to say in a joint statement that they were pleased at the governor's attitude. Since then, the Illinois Smith, without referring directly to the New York Smith, has told a gathering of Illinois farmers the time has come to forget party lines and vote for farm relief.

In three of the farm belt states, the week saw other developments shoulder their way into the political news columns. "Brother Charlie" Bryan of Nebraska, despite the family dryness, came out for Smith because of the farm relief issue.

Discuss Hoover's Stand

Most public discussion of prohibition hinges for the present around Secretary Hoover's acceptance declaration against repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and against any modification that would mean nullification. Dry leaders the country over hailed this pronouncement as a clearcut bone dry commitment, although it was pointed out by Mr. Hoover's close advisers that he did not mention the Volstead act by name and did refer to certain abuses which must be remedied. So great was the outpouring of praise from Southern drys that the nominee listened attentively to promises that the South could be won over from the democrats, and tentative plans were made for him to deliver oneo r two speeches in that section later in the campaign. Chairman Work even went so far as to predict that the South would be a real battleground.

Anti-Saloon Wins Ohio

Victory of the anti-saloon league in nominating most if not all its major candidates in the Ohio primaries was pronounced by the republican leaders a promising sign of a Hoover dry sweep in the midwest; a conclusion promptly disputed by the democrats. The week also saw E. K. Gaylor, the Oklahoma City publisher, and Wayne Williams, a former democratic attorney general of Colorado, quit the Smith camp, and Alfred C. F. Meyer, a republican banker of St. Louis, come out for Smith, all on account of prohibition.

At Albany, the democratic nominee talked with such dry leaders as Glass of Virginia, who emerged from the executive mansion as silent as when he entered; Daniels of North Carolina, who said he was satisfied Smith would enforce the law; and others.

Thus the matter stands as the country awaits Gov. Smith's promised discussion of the whole prohibition question in his acceptance speech next Monday.

Religious Question Fiery

A third declaration in Secretary Hoover's Stanford University address which evoked widespread discussion was his condemnation of religious intolerance. But it did not quiet the religious issue. Nor does Gov. Smith's sharp exchange with Dr. John Roach Straton, evidently marking the collapse of negotiations for a joint debate, appear to have ended public discussion of Smith's fitness for public leadership.

"Plain speaking on the religious issue, accompanied by clamor and disorder, rocked a gathering of scholars at a university of Virginia public forum. The Rev. Albert C. Dieffenbach, of Boston, editor of the Christian Register, argued that no Roman Catholic should become president because that church never had relented "its absolute claim to primacy over the state." He was answered by a half dozen, who mixed charges of "bigotry' with allusions to the "political parsons" of Protestantism.

NEW CITY DIRECTORY GIVES CORSICANA'S POPULATION AT MORE THAN TWENTY THOUSAND

R. L. Polk & Company, nationwide directory publishers, credit Corsicana with a population of 20,052, in the 1928 Corsicana City Directory, just off the press and being delivered to subscribers. This represents an increase of 8,696 in eight years, an average of over 1,000 per year. Taken from recognized and dependable sources, this presents itself as an encouraging bit of information.

Following the well known and generally approved Polk style, the new directory is divided into five major departments, each performing its peculiar service.

The Miscellaneous is a compendium of information on various subjects including all governmental departments, courts, schools, postoffic, statistics, reviews, etc. A complete list of all postoffices in the state of Texas is shown, and a comprehensive write-up of the city, picturing its distinctions, its embraced in this department.

The Buyers' Guide is a section of advertisements, reflecting the city's buying power, and setting forth leading interests in better style than is possible in the regular listings.

The Alphabetical List of Names, the chief feature of the directory, and the one most often referred to, begins with A & M. Bus Line and concludes 250 pages later with Zion's Rest tourist camp. Colored people are indicated by "(c)".

The Street and Avenue Guide and Directory of Householders, printed on rose-tinted paper, lays out the city by streets, sub-arranging house numbers and householders. Each street is cut into blocks by its respective cross streets. Property ownership is designated by the character "O" placed immediately, after the householder's name.

The Classified Business Directory is a digest of the business and professions of Corsicana, placed under appropriate headings.

Through the courtesy of the publishers of the Corsicana City Directory, a Directory Library is maintained in the offices of the Corsicana chamber of commerce, for free reference by the general public. This library is one of the system of more than 400, installed and operated in the chief cities of the United States and Canada, under the supervision of the Association of North American Directory Publishers, of which R. L. Polk & Co. is a member. Copies of the new Corsicana directory will be distributed in this library chain, thereby rendering the city valuable service in the way of community advertising.

MUCH INTEREST IS BEING TAKEN IN MAT BOUT WEDNESDAY

Manager Johnson, who is staging a series of interesting wrestling matches at the Natatorium pavilion, stated Saturday that he had been in touch with both Roy Reynolds of Dallas and Jack Reed of Oklahoma, who will be the main attaction at the Wednesday evening mat card here, and both men will arrive in Corsicana Friday and both are confident of winning the match. Reynolds has posted a forefit that he will be here and will not accept any other match prior to Wednesday night.

There is much interest in this event, as Reed, known as the "Oklahoma Sensation," stated here last Tuesday night when he met College Wolfe that he came to Corsicana with the understanding that he was to get a chance at Reynolds at last, as he stated that for the past two years he had been trying to get a match with Reynolds and had failed.

Reed intimated broadly that Reynolds was not desirous of meeting him and also intimated that he would continue until he finally met Reynolds on the mat. Reynolds was billed to meet Reed here Tuesday night but a telegram came on Tuesday afternoon stating that he (Reyonlds) had been injured in a Monday night go and could not be present and that he was sending Wolfe, who he believed could defeat Reed.

Wolfe took the first fall through a succession of body slams but lost the two succeeding falls to Reed in rapid succession. The Wednesday night match is expected to be a good one and a record crowd of men and women are expected.

Commenting on the exchange of letters, Mrs. Claybrook said that "anyone enjoying the emoluments of democratic office ought to support the democratic ticket."

Tydings said the request for her active aid was made in view of "the invaluable help you have rendered in the past."

PLANS PERFECTED FOR SPREADING OF DEMOCRATIC GOSPEL

COMMITTEE REGULAR DEMOCRATS ESTABLISH HEADQUARTERS IN DALLAS

By L. B. DILBECK
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

AUSTIN, Aug. 18.—(AP)—A Democratic "regular" machine designed to thunder the gospel of voting the straight ticket into the most remote recesses of Texas, was perfected here today with headquarters opening Monday at Dallas.

The state central committee appointed by last week's mass meeting to organize the state behind the national Democratic nominees chose Dallas as the focal point of the campaign, appointed senatorial district chairmen and chairwomen and designated Austin, Houston, San Antonio, El Paso, Wichita Falls, Abilene and Waco as regional headquarters.

Speakers, finances and publicity will be taken care of by sub-committees of five members each.

Regional directors will be named by State Chairman James Young, former congressman, of Kaufman. Senatorial district chairmen are empowered to organize each county and voting precinct within their territory to work with the state organization.

The anti-Smith bolting elements of Dallas, Tarant and Harris counties were dismissed by a successful motion that only the organizations authorized here today will be recognized as official in those counties. This action was the outgrowth of another motion that recommendations of county Democratic caucuses be respected by the central committee.

"If we respect these recommendations, it is my opinion that Tom Love will have several to make up around Dallas," R. E. Johnson of Burnet, new member of the committee selected today, declared.

The only discord of the meeting was in debate over dual recommendations for selection of chairmen in the 27th senatorial district. Names recommended by Mrs. Volney Taylor of Brownsville, finally were honored by vote over a pair favored by Steve Pinckney of Houston on motion of R. L. Stennis of Dallas, secretary of the meeting.

Before the meeting adjourned at 1 p. m., Chairman Young was empowered to apportion counties to the various regional headquarters and to select chairmen for auxiliary organizations of lawyers, young voters and a 'Texas Smith Club."

The finance committee will be composed of John Henry Kirby, mililonaire lumberman of Houston, John Boyle, San Antonio; Dave W. Wilcox, Georgetown, state Democratic executive chairman; Jed C. Adams, national committeeman, Dallas, and Mrs. H. H. Sevier, national committeewoman, Austin.

On motion of Dayton Moses of Fort Worth, immediate personal contributions from comittee members will start the financial drive.

One man and one woman were authorized to lead the work in the senatorial districts. Many were left to be appointed later.

The following were named today: District 3, Arthur A. Seal, Waco; Mrs. E. E. Richardson, Jasper; District 4, Charles D. Smith, Beaumont; District 5, W. L. Dean, Huntsville; District 6, W. C. Campbell, Palestine, Mrs. T. B. Griffith, Terrell; District 7, Gordon Simpson, Tyler; Mrs. Francis Bothwell, Tyler; District 9, R. S. Lipscomb, Bonham; District 11, W. A. Thomas, Dallas; Miss Hattie F. Henneberg, Dallas; District 13, Abe Groce, Waco; District 14, F. T. Henderson, Bryan; Mrs. C. W. Webb, Elgin; District 15, C. J. Ratcliffe, Fort Worth; 29, Mrs. Calude P. Hudspeth, E. Paso; C. C. Belcher, Del Rio; 30, Mrs. L. V. Smith, Floydada; 31, R. E. Underwood, Amarillo.

Committee Enlarged.

AUSTIN, Aug. 18. —(AP)— Lively debate as to whether the state central committee appointed by the recent democratic mass meeting to initiate a statewide campaign for support of the national nominees, should enlarge itself, engaged attention of the committee meeting here today to appoint district chairman and women.

Ten new names were added to the committee before a debate ensued between Steve Pickney of Houston and John Boyle of San Antonio over the addition of an eleventh, F. W. Seabury of Brownsville.

Pinckney argued against Seabury since the latter was being considered for a senatorial district chairman.

"Every good democrat in Texas whose name is suggested ought to be added," Boyle said. He strove to head off what he termed an "attitude that a handful should direct the work when others just as anxious to work ought to get in.

Pinckney said "we are going to use all our men who ought to be sub-committee chairmen as members of the central committee and the work is coming for the sub-committees."

Those added to the central committee are Brigadier General Jacob F. Wolters, Houston; F. M. Neuman, Brady; Senator A. J. Wirtz, Seguin; A. Y. Baker, Edinburgh; Senator Archie Parr, Benavides; C. C. Small, Wellington; Pink Parrish, Lubbock; R. H. Nichols, Electra; Juston Penn, Laredo, and Lloyd Fletcher, Amarillo.

R. L. Stennis of Dallas, was named secretary of the meeting. J. D. Parnell of Wichita Falls was present with a proxy for C. I. Francis of that city.

Central committee chairman, James Young of QKaufman presided.

William Harris of Eureka spent Saturday afternoon in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Landry and family of Beaumont were visitors in Corsicana Saturday.

DANIELS WOULD MAKE EVERY FEDERAL EMPLOYEE AID FOR ENFORCING PROHIBITION LAW

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Enlistment of every federal employee as an aid to phobition enforcement officers in detecting violators is advocated by Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy under President Wilson.

"If a president wants to enforce the law every man he appoints to office ought to be told: 'You must enforce the laws of this country and not wink at violations,'" he said in charging prohibition enforcement had never had a fair trial under the republican administration.

"Of course I would not stop a naval battle to take up the chase of a rum runner," he continued, "or put the navy as a whole into prohibition enforcement. But if a naval aviator sees the law disobeyed let him report it. Every custom officer on the border ought to be on the lookout for liquor importation. Every federal employe should be told: 'You must do your job first but incidentally if you find anything wrong going on you must report it.'"

He said that Herbert Hoover's promise that if elected he would name a fact finding commission to probe the prohibition question was "a good way to dodge."

Mr. Daniels made his views known at democratic national headquarters here where he stopped off on his way home from Albany where he conferred with Governor Smith.

FLAMING PRIEST ABSOLVED LAUNCH EXPLOSION VICTIMS BEFORE THEY REACHED WATER

NORTH BAY, Ont., Aug. 17.—(AP).—How a parish priest, blinded by fire, his clothes ablaze, stood on his burning launch in Lake Lavigne and, crucifix in hand, granted absolution to five others of his faith before they plunged into the water has been told by the sole survivor of the tragedy.

The priest, Father J. B. Dubuc, although a powerful swimmer, was drowned attempting to save the lives of others of his party.

The dramatic story of the tragedy was related by Albert Lafreniere, who with his wife and two children, Father Dubuc and Miss Leomie Sylvestre set out Wednesday night for a cruise around the lake, after a picnic at which they had been the priest's guests.

They had proceeded a mile up the lake when a backfire from the engine ignited gasoline. The gasoline tank exploded.

Calming his guests as the flames crackled around them, Father Dubuc calmly recited the ritual of his church, and then said: "There is nothing else to do. We must jump into the water."

Lafreniere, clasping his oldest son, Claude, 3, in his arms made for a small island which the glare from the flames showed three hundred yards distant. Father Dubuc went to aid of the two women. Mrs. Lafreniere had her month-old son clasped in her arms.

When almost to the island, Lafreniere lost his hold on his son, and was barely able to swim to the shore alone. The others were all drowned.

Residents of Lavigne, about a mile from the scene of the accident saw the flaming boat and went to the rescue, but were too late to aid.

The bodies of all except Miss Sylvestre have been found.

HEAVY PROPERTY LOSS SUFFERED IN SOUTHEAST AREA

STORMS AND FLOOD WATERS WRECK FARMS, HOMES AND HIGHWAYS

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 17. (AP) — Four southeastern states counted 10 dead and great property damage in the wake of storms and floods today.

Railroads, telegraph and telephone companies were struggling to restore communication lines broken by raging waters in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia.

Property owners in those states contemplated thousands of acres of wrecked farm land, destroyed and damaged homes and buildings, as well as unestimated bridge and highway damage which cannot be restored for months.

While showers were forecast for the affected states today, the drenching rains and storm winds of the last few days apparently had subsided.

Probably the greatest menace obtained along the broad river in South Carolina, the drainage channel for the western edge of North Carolina as well, where a Lockhart Power company dam had already burst near Union, S. C.

The structure, 1,000 feet long and 18 feet high, cracked at midnight, threatening, as a result the broad river valley dams to Columbia. While officials said there was no danger to residents in the valley, some 50 families were declared by an officer at Union, S. C., to have moved to safety.

Dams Are Holding.

Union Manufacturing company's dam at Neil's Shoals and the Broad river company's dam at Parr Shoals, near Columbia were already 7 to 12 feet under the flood crest with all gates open.

In North Carolina two great systems of power dams on Catawba river, built after the disastrous floods of 1916 in that state; were receiving their first real test, and apparently holding safely the 45 billion cubic feet of water impounded along the Catawba course.

As communication was restored last night and today, reports came in of great damage throughout the Piedmont areas and loss of life was believed definitely fixed at en.

They were Myrtle Young, 11, Hickory, N. C., drowned; Guy Young, 9, Hickory, N. C., drowned; Arvin Blythe, Hendersonville, N. C., drowned; John W. Jones, Ashley Heights county, N. C., tornado victim; unidentified man, Ashley Heights, Tornado; L. Marvel Simms, 50, Ariel, S. C., drowned; Ballenger Hudson, Ariel, S. C., drowned; Jesse Dove, Roanoke, Va., drowned; A. A. Craft, Springwood, Va., drowned; Miss Ethel Allen, Warrenton, Va., dopped dead of fright while crossing Roanoke river bridge over flood.

WILL PROBE TAXES DUE STATE ON KING RANCH INHERITANCE

AUSTIN, Aug. 18.—(AP)—An investigation to determine the amount of inheritance taxes due the state from the famous King's ranch near Kingsville will be made by R. V. Nichols, law enforcement chief of the attorney general's department, who was to leave for Kingsville today.

The state claims that between $400,000 and $500,000 is due it from the estate, which is estimated to be worth several million dollars. An offer of $208,000 settlement for the taxes has been refused.

Rumors of Rangers Being Sent Protect Officers Unverified

AUSTIN, Aug. 18.—(AP)—A rumor that state rangers might be sent to an unnamed South Texas county to aid local authorities against cattle thieves reported to have threatened officers, could not be traced to any official source here today.

Governor Moody was not at his office all morning. His secretaries said they knew nothing of the matter and that as far as they knew, no official complaint had been made.

At the adjutant general's department, it was said all the Rangers of the state headquarters company are out of the city on routine duties not connected with the reported South Texas trouble.

Sergeant J. B. Wheatley is in Wharton county, but on a minor matter. Ranger Captain Frank Hamer is in West Texas on some other case. Privates J. W. Aldrich and J. E. McCoy have gone to the Milam county section.

FARM RELIEF MAIN FEATURE OF SPEECH BY SENATOR CURTIS

OPPOSES REPEAL VOLSTEAD ACT AND WANTS REAL LAW ENFORCEMENT

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Appointment of a joint Congressional committee to work out a solution of the controversial agricultural problem on a "non-partisan" basis was proposed Saturday by Senator Curtis, of Kansas, in his address accepting the Republican vice vresidential nomination.

Senator Curtis, who long has been identified with the legislative battles of agriculture, spoke at length on the farm relief problem. As he offered his suggestion for a cure he called for a "united impenetrable front" of republicans and lauded Herbert Hoover as "well worthy of the party's choice; a credit to it and the nation, both in the eyes of our people and the world."

"The question of the proper relief for agriculture is a trying and perplexing one," he declared. "The problem is of deep-seated economic importance to every citizen without regard to his occupation of his political party. Properly its solution is and always should be nonpartisan.

"I am convinced that if a small joint committee of the house and senate were appointed to study the problem and to find its proper solution, the necessary relief quickly could and would be afforded. The committee could be assisted in its task by the advice and experience of the most capable experts on the subject whose services can be obtained."

Senator Curtis supported the McNary-Haugen farm bill last session after pressing two of his own which were sponsored in the house by democrats but he voted to uphold the veto of President Coolidge of the McNary-Haugen measure on the basis of his responsibility to the administration as its leader in the senate.

Tariff Revision.

He also proposed tariff revision by the next congress to obtain higher duties on some agricultural commodities and like Mr. Hoover saw great hope in the extension and improvements of inland waterways. The senator believed the republican party has done much for the farmers already and declared that without that help, the agricultural situation "would be definitely worse than it is."

Government finances, labor, law enforcement and the "encouragement of women in government" were other subjects emphasized in the brief address delivered from the state house steps here in the birthplace and home of the Kansas senator.

In praising Mr. Hoover as a man whose "extensive knowledge, training and experience well fit him to guide the country wisely and justly to new heights of renown," Senator Curtis referred also to President Coolidge, declaring that "the policies of Calvin Coolidge are those of our party and are expressed in our platform.

"They are Mr. Hoover's and they are mine," he said. "They are those of Washington, Lincoln and Roosevelt. There must be no disloyalty within our ranks, and there will be none. Republicans may quarrel among themselves, but not at such a time as this."

Friend of Prohibition.

Declaring "I am opposed to the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment or the Volstead Act," Curtis reminded his Kansas friends of his record as prosecuting attorney of Shawnee county to show that "I believe in and practice enforcement of the law." It is one of his proud boasts thet he "dried up" Shawnee county.

The republican vice presidential nominee struck out hard at those who have suggested state control of alcoholic beverages. He related that all but two of the states ratified the Eighteenth amendment and by this voluntary action which binds all the states delegated to the Federal government their full original power and responsibility on the liquor prohibition question."

"For the federal government now to adopt, or even to propose or to favor, a policy which will result in allowing each state to determine for itself the alcoholic content of beverages to be manufactured, sold and transported throughout the country, would be a direct and indefensible attempt on its part to evade or to repudiate the responsibility so delegated and assumed, and an endeavor to redelegate that responsibility to the several states from whence it came, without any justification.

"I believe in meeting an issue squarely, therefore I state that not only am I heartily in favor of faithfully enforcing all our laws, but, further, I am opposed to the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment or of the Volstead act."

Fourteen Points.

Fourteen means of promoting good government and "maintaining the era of national prosperity never before equalled by any nation on the face of the globe" were outlined by the senator as follows:

"1. To protect Agriculture effectively, and to encourage it in every proper manner.

"2. To protect American Labor by enacting all needed legislation, and by encouraging closer relations between Labor and Capital.

"3. To enforce the laws without fear or favor.

"4. To encourage active participation by women in the conduct of the government:

"5. To reduce the publis debt, public expenses, and taxes.

"6. To maintain peace ,engage in commerce with all nations, and to enter entangling allinances with none.

"7. To encourage all industry and to maintain a protective tariff with duties high enough fully to protect American producers, American products, and American labor against foreign competition.

Favors Merchant Marine.

"8. To develop, aid, and encourage means of transportation and communication, national and international, by land and water, and in the air, through the consolidation of railroads; the establishment of a complete system of inland waterways; the re-establishment of a strong merchant marine; a strong postal and commercial aircraft service; and a wider and more efficient use of the ever-increasing possibilities of the radio.

"9. To give equal and exact justice to all men of whatever state or persuasion.

"10. To support the state governments in all their rights.

"11. To preserve the federal government in its whole constitutional vigor, and to maintain and expand the existing high state of national consciousness.

"12. To preserve the liberty of the press; the freedom of speech and worship; civil liberty and security of individual rights; and to promot thaoetao shr shr shrdlush promote the cause of education among the people.

"13. To protect the lives and property of our citizens by the completion of an adequate system of flood-control for the Mississippi river and its tributaries, and elsewhere if necessary, to prevent a recurrence of a disaster such as recently occurred in the Mississipi valley.

"14. To continue a generous policy in the fulfillment of obligations to veterans of our wars, and to extend it to their widows, orphans and dependents."

WOMAN ASSISTANT ATTORNEY-GENERAL TO MAKE PERSONAL PROBE INTO LIQUOR CASES

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Newspapers today said Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition enforcement, was reported preparing to conduct in person a federal grand jury investigation into alleged liquor law violations by 26 recently raided night clubs. The grand jury is scheduled to reconvene today.

Mrs. Willebrandt, these reports said, plans to remain in New York until she has examined the last of 125 witnesses, including many of social prominence.

Major Maurice Campbell, prohibition administrator for this district, said Mrs. Willebrandt would have nothing to do with the examination of witnesses.

Although the federal authorities have carefully guarded the names of prospective witnesses, it has been learned that among those called are a Mr. Leeds of Oyster Bay, believed to be William B. Leeds, Jr., son of the late "tin plate king"; Phillip M. Plant, stepson of Col. William Hayward, former U. S. attorney general; members of the Warburton and Guggenheimer families; Samuel Kern, baliff for Federal Judge Bondy, and a number of policemen, prohibition agents and former prohibition agents.

COTTON PICKING TO GET UNDER WAY THIS WEEK OVER COUNTY

Cotton picking is expected to start in all sections of the county this week and various estimates on the production are being made. These estimates run from 90,000 to well over 100,000 bales. These estimates, of course, are made with the idea in view that normal conditions will prevail.

There are various methods of arriving at the estimates given. Some people can walk across a cotton field and make an off-hand guess which will be very near correct. Their experience and observance having taught them how to figure the production. Others say after inspecting a field that is a little better or not quite so good as the preceding year and base their estimates on previous production.

Estimates on the county as a whole are made after the farmers get together and discuss conditions in their respective communities and after men who are interested make a careful survey of the county.

Some of the most interested men make their estimates after they have closely inspected the crops and have completed a careful calculation based on accurate information gained through years of this work.

Here is one method used in arriving at an estimate of the cotton crop in Navarro county this year:

A square acre is used as the basis of the calculation.

In a square acre there as 70 rows 70 yards long and if the cotton is chopped to one stalk every 12 inches, there will be 210 stalks to the row. This number is arrived at by multiplying the number of inches in a yard, 36, by the number of yards in a row, 70, then dividing by the distance between stalks, 12 inches.

If there are 210 stalks on one row and they average five bolls to the stalk, there would be 1050 bolls on that row. Then on the 70 rows there would be 70 times 1050 or 73,500 bolls. It takes 100 bolls to make a pound of cotton, then the number of bolls of cotton on the acre divided by the number of bolls required to make a pound will give the amount produced per acre, which is 735 pounds.

Figuring 30 per cent off for depreciation which includes dead cotton, poor stand, a few bolls that will not open and the scattering cotton left for "Old Bossy," in the fall after the picking has been completed, the production will be 514.50 pounds per acre. The production per acre multiplied by the number of acres in the county will give the total production. It is estimated that there are 300,000 acres planted in cotton in Navarro county this year. The 514.50 pounds per acre, multiplied by 300,000 gives a total of 154,350,000 pounds. This grand total divided by 1,500 pounds, the amount of seed cotton required to make a bale, will give a production of 102,900 bales.

If a loss of 10 per cent is figured for bollies, which require considerable more lint than when picked and for the loss in weight in cotton that stays open a long time before it is picked, the production will be reduced by 10,290 bales, making the total production 91,610.

A careful survey will show that most of the cotton in this county is equal to the average on which this compilation is made. In some sections there are more than the average of five bolls to the stalk while in others it will hardly hold that average.

It will be noticed that almost one third is figured for depreciation and that an additional 10 per cent is figured for loss in bollies and other causes.

INTEREST INCREASES IN LOCAL CIRCLES AS RESULT NEW TESTS

WELL PLUGGED BACK ON KELLUM LEASE PRODUCES PROLIFICALLY

With several wells drilling in East Texas, big producer already brought in, one test drilling just east of the Trinity river in the Bazette area and another ready to drill, activity is rapidly reaching a higher peak than at any time during the past year or more. Considerable excitement was also caused by work done on one of the wells on the Atlantic's Kellum lease.

Making 74 barrels and hour through a five-eights inch choke, the T. H. Jones, Sr., latest Humble producer in the East Texas field, made 2084 barrels of pipeline oil Sunday. This well had set the operators in this area in a furor and is rated by many as a 10,000 barrel well. The Humble is forced to keep the well choked in because of inadequate storage and pipeline facilities.

This is the fourth oil producer in the East Texas area, the others being the Elliott and Clark No. 2 making about 70 barrels, the Mandelstam No. 2 making about 1200 barrels, the Lizzie Smith No. one and the latest well, the H. Jones, Sr., No. 1. The Elliott and Clark No. 2 and the Tom Jones, Jr., No. One are making large quantities of gas.

The P. Holloway No. 1 was reported drilling in the chalk around 3529 feet; the J. C. Hall No. was about 1300 feet in sand and shale, and derrick was being built for the Mandelstam No. 3. Weinberg brothers No. 1 was about 500 feet.

Another test on the east side of the river in the Bazette sector was reported ready to drill Monday but no information as to active drilling was available. The test is being put down by Fred Haynes and Rowan brothers are the drilling contractors. The well is located on the northwest corner of the J. P. Tarkington 90 acre tract.

Wheelock and Collins are drilling steadily on the McElwrath and Suggett test on the Schoelkopf land in Henderson county near Tool. This test is just across the river from Bazette.

Representatives of the Anchor Oil company of Dallas were reported engaged in buying leases and royalty in the Bazette area. This company is scheduled to start a test near the town of Bazette in the near future.

Work of plugging back in the E. L. Hamilton No. 1 was reported complete Monday and it is expected that an attempt will be made to bail the well in during this week. This well is located between Tuckertown and Eureka on the east side of the fault that transverses the Powell field.

Considerable excitement was occasioned Saturday when an old well on the Atlantic Kellum lease in the Powell field came in making about 1000 barrels. The well had been making a very few barrels a day and casing was pulled to the 2200 foot level an ripped, and the well has been flowing almost steadily since that time. Several feet of gas and oil were found about this level when the bit was headed for the Woodbine, and the mud was blown out of the hole, but was finally walled up and drilled deeper. Operators are still undecided whether another shallow pay sand has been found or whether or not a small pocket has been tapped. Other wells have received the same treatment in this area and gradually subsided after a few days of increased production.

MAYFIELD PRESENTS CANDIDACY BEFORE VOTERS OF NAVARRO

REVIEWS HIS RECORD IN SENATE AND ATTACKS OPPONENT'S RECORD

Speaking from the Thirteenth judicial district courtroom where the injunction proceedings against him were tried in 1922, Senator Earle B. Mayfield, junior member from Texas in the upper branch of congress, advocated his candidacy for re-election to the voters of Navarro county Friday afternoon.

The State Home Band under the direction of Joel Trimble paraded the streets in the interest of the candidate before the speaking hour and also furnished a short concert at the courthouse.

John T. Fortson, local banker, presided at the meeting Friday afternoon. Everett Looney of Ennis was the first speaker of the afternoon and declared that Ellis county would go for Mayfield. He was followed by A. L. Gambrell of Black Hills, who declared that many people who voted against Mayfield in 1922 because of radical views on the Ku Klux Klan issue, but that he believed that the majority favored the present incumbent in this campaign.

C. H. DeLafosse, chairman of the Navarro county Democratic executive committee, was then presented to introduce the speaker. He said that he favored Mayfield because he had made the race on the issue of farm relief equal to the advantages and protection afforded other industries, and that he believed Mayfield would carry the county. "As Navarro county goes, so goes the state," was declared a true adage by the speaker.

Grateful for Support.

In his introductory remarks, the senator complimented the crowd for coming out in the extreme heat, and also expressed his thanks to Joel Trimble and his band. He expressed himself as being extremely grateful to the voters of Navarro county for the vote they gave him on July 28, and pledged his service to them again and expressed a desire to conduct himself so as to be worthy of future consideration.

Launching into his campaign speech, Mayfield declared that there was a marked contrast between the candidacies of the two men in the senator's race. He denied that he had the support of big business or the corporations and stated that Connally had been trying to hoodwink the people of Texas. Looking over the supporters of Connally in the campaign, Mayfield asserted that nine-tenths of the attorneys for the railroads were backing Connally because orders had been passed down the line from headquarters. He called the names of many prominent corporation lawyers and declared that they were staunch supporters and campaign managers for Connally. Connally's support, he declared, was made up of the power interests, railroads and big banks while he was the representative of the farmer, union labor, war veterans and women.

Scores Connally's Backing.

Asserting that Connally had set himself up as an apostle of political purity, the present senator said that his opponent seemed to think that he had a monopoly on this virtue. He attacked his pretension by declaring that the Marlin representative was supported by the "crookedest, rottenest and most corrupt anti-prohibition gang in Texas," composed of the city and county officers of Bexar county, with their headquarters in San Antonio. He challenged Connally to explain why his name was left unscratched on the marked ballot sent out by the political machine, who he saw and talked to, and how much it cost him if anything.

Taking up the records of the two men on their votes on veterans' compensation, Mayfield declared that statements that Connally's record was better than his could not be true, because he had voted for every measure that had the sponsorship of the American Legion. He declared that he voted for the extension of the time for adjusted compensation in the spring of 1928 while Connally voted against the bill. He also declared that his opponent was not in Washington when the officers' retirement act which provided for the retiring of volunteer officers on the same pay basis as those in the regular army came up, but was down in Texas campaigning; the same he declared to be true on the universal draft act.

Mayfield declared that he would get almost all of Owsley's votes because he favored giving the soldiers everything they wanted.

Compares Records.

Making a comparison of the congressional records of the two men, Mayfield pointed out that Connally had spent twelve years in the house while he had only spent one term in the senate. He declared that Connally was on the house committee on foreign relations simply because he knew nothing about the affairs at home, and because the committee took a junketing trip to Europe every so often. Replying to Connally's statement that a congressman was allowed to be a member of one committee only he named several other congressmen who were members of three and four committees, and said further that evidently one of the rules of the house had been violated in all of the cases except Mr. Connally's. Mayfield declared that he was on a number of vital committees and would be on them as long as he remained in the senate.

The three vital interests of the people of Texas were handled by the committees upon which he served, the junior senator declared, naming them as the problems of transportation, finance and agriculture. He affirmed that he favored returning the right to the state to control railroads within its bounds, and reforms in banking that would give the small banks the same advantage with the Federal Reserve system that the banks in the greater cities enjoyed.

Author Many Bills.

Sketching his legislative career, Mayfield asserted that he was the author of the interstate commerce emergency measure which provides for reduced freight rates during periods of drought and calamity; author of the bill giving the war department control of toll bridges across boundary streams and enabling him to set the toll rate; co-author of seven amendments to the interstate commerce commission act; empowering the department of agriculture to change its regulations so that cattle raisers might bring their herds back into the United States from Mexico; [illegible] author of the measure that started the investigation of the further uses of cotton, and author of the cotton classification act. He referred to Connally's contention that Marvin Jones was the author of the classification act and said that he would be willing to base his continuance in the race upon the decision of Secretary Jardine in the matter if Connally would consent to the same proposal.

He declared that he had introduced a measure into the senate, making it a felony for anyone to make price predictions on cotton, and asserted that the measure was passed through the senate but was held up by the house agricultural committee. All of the farmers would enjoy such comforts as comfortable houses, water, lights and electric power if he had his way about it and they received a fair square deal from their government.

Taking up Connally's legislative record, Mayfield declared that it was confined to one measure which was a private bill. During the war two troop trains passed each other and one cook threw a soup bone off one into the other, striking a man and resulting in his death. The bill offered by the Marlin congressman was to pay the widow of this man the sum of $5000.

The senator asserted that the principal reason that Connally spent the greater portion of his time villifying him was because he had no record of his own to which he might point.

Alleged Fake Issues.

Connally has raised a number of fake issues in the campaign, according to the junior member of the upper house. He affirmed that Connally had a nightmare one day and the next day he came out with the statement that Jim Ferguson had made a trade with Mayfield for his support. Mayfield declared that he had only seen Jim Ferguson once, and that was during the Democratic national convention in Houston and that he merely spoke to him at that time.

Mayfield declared that if Jim Ferguson and his supporters wanted to climb on the rear end of his rapidly filling bandwagon and get into the procession, he certainly would not kick them off. He challenged Connally to explain to the people of Texas why he carried an announcement and a political advertisement in the Ferguson Forum. He then repeated his statements concerning the expense accounts which Connally sent in upon which he did not show the sum of $25 spent for advertising in the Forum until after the first primary, when the bill was actually paid in February. He exhibited photostatic copies of the sworn statements.

The reason for this, he declared, was that he was fishing for Ferguson's support. He further stated that if Ferguson had chosen to support him (Connally) then he would have gone over the state saying that Jim Ferguson was a greatly misjudged man, but that at present he villified them both.

Mayfield closed his address with a declaration that the main issue before the people of America today was that of farm relief and made an urgent plea for re-election on his stand on that issue and on his record while a member of the senate.

He left immediately after the speaking for Mexia where he spoke Friday night. He will speak in Tyler Saturday night, closing his week's campaign there.

STRATON SAYS HE DEMANDS RIGHT, AS CHALLENGED, TO NAME PLACE TO MEET SMITH

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Dr. John Roach Straton, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, will insist upon the rules of dueling code in his controversy with Governor Smith. As the challenged he insists on naming the place of meeting.

The pastor in a letter to the governor which he made public last night, said:

"As the challenged party, I stand on the time honored privilege of naming the place for the discussion and shall name a place that will not arouse sectarian bitterness nor drag the religious issue into the contest."

The governor had insisted that he be permitted to answer Dr. Straton's charges in Calvary Baptist church where the sermon against him was delivered.

"The vital point," the letter continued, "is that you have challenged me to a joint discussion of your record and not to a personal appearance in a church. You have asked whether I would meet you, and your last letter demanded a reply of 'yes' or 'no.' My answer is emphatically and unchangeably 'yes.'

"Unless you now stand up to your own challenge your action in running to cover will leave me free to take whatever steps in the matter I may deem wise and right, and will automatically brand you before the world as a bluffer, a Tammany trickster, and a coward."

In his last letter to the pastor Governor Smith wrote:

"The answer to my request to appear in your church before your parishoners and under the condition I mentioned is 'yes' or 'no.' Unless and until I hear from you in the affirmative, the matter is closed."

BRADSTREET'S GIVES OPTIMISTIC REPORTS OF TRADE OUTLOOK

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Bradstreet's today said:

Accentuation of the activities in fall trade hitherto noted; further slight gains in industrial lines; continuance of the remarkable progress by the cereal crops, which first became markedly visible in July and, aided by high temperatures, the pushing of sales constitute the high lights of the week's reports. The one notable exception to this slow, but steady, progress toward improvement over the reactionary trends present a year ago is found in the southeastern quarter of the country, where tropical storms, accompanied by high winds and very heavy rainfall, have checked business progress, damaged the corn, cotton and fruit crops, flooded wide areas and interfered with highway and railway operations.

Weekly bank clearings $9,226,599,000, a decrease of 7 per cent from a year ago.

CONVICTS UNDER MURDER CHARGES ESCAPED FRIDAY

PICKED LOCKS OF JAIL; NO POSSE ORGANIZED; WILL USE DOGS IN TRAILING

RICHMOND, Tex., Aug. 18. (AP)—Five convicts charged with murder in the slaying of Dog Sergeant Henry Ward in a break from Imperial state prison farm Number 2 at Sugarland July 27 escaped from the Fort Bend county jail here last night.

Four of the convicts, who were in one cell, escaped by picking the lock. Then they worked a combination lock on another cell and liberated the fifth man.

Those who escaped were Alvin Ireland, serving 111 years for bank robbery from Archer county; Irwin Davis, 2 years for burglary from Callahan county; Bill Thompson, 13 years for burglary from Comanche county; Fred Burkett, 10 years for felony theft from Dallas county, and John Collins, 2 years for burglary from Bexar county.

After the men had gotten out of their cells they picked the lock on another door and climbed to the roof of the jail. There they made a rope of blankets and slipped to the ground.

R. R. Carter and Raymond Hall, charged with Ward's murder, who were in the same jail, did not escape. A trusty was asleep in front of their cell, Sheriff "Hooking" Collins said, expressing opinion the other escaping prisoners refused to aid these two for fear they would arouse the guards.

Sheriff Collins said he would organize no posse, because the escaped men had been at liberty since last night and probably had separated by morning.

"I'll try to head them off, but if I can't do that I'll have to put the dogs on five trails," the sheriff said.

The prisoners were charged with having slain Ward when he came to the aid of Jim Geter, guard, when the convicts overpowered Geter as they were working in a cotton field.

To the Voters of Navarro County:

From the large vote I received in the recent primary election it looks like the people of Navarro county want me for their County Judge, but as I lacked only a few votes of receiving as many as both of my opponents, it is necessary for me to make another race.

The candidates have been before you and you have had an opportunity of seeing and hearing them and I am asking you to vote for the one you think best qualified to fill the office of County Judge.

I want to thank you for the large vote you gave me, and ask those who did not vote for me, as well as those who did, to go to the election on August 25th, and vote for me for County Judge.

Your Friend,
CLAY NASH.

AMBASSADOR MORROW GIVEN ENTHUSIASTIC WELCOME OVER SOUTHERN MEXICO ON TOUR

OAXACA CITY, Oaxaca, Mexico, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The Star Spangled Banner is waving in a part of tropical Mexico where it had never been seen before, owing to the coming of Dwight W. Morrow, American ambassador.

Mr. Morrow swept through Southern Mexico yesterday as a guest of honor and as a friend of the people. He was received as no foreign representative and in fact few Mexicans have ever been received.

As he traveled across the states of Puebla and Oaxaca American flags, crude homemade affairs, of colored tissue paper, flew in every little Indian village. The American ambassador was cheered by swarms of people at every station.

Mr. Morrow left Mexico City on what he thought would be a quiet and uneventful trip to see the old ruined city of Mitla near Oaxaca. Instead he found the name and fame of Morrow as an ambassador of good will and a friend of Mexico had been so circulated among the Mexican people that it was impossible for him to make a few days' sightseeing trip in a private and personal capacity. People everywhere hearing of his coming insisted in welcoming him in an official capacity and as a friend.

The information had been spread around Mexico by word of mouth and newspapers that "the powerful nation to the north has sent to Mexico an ambassador who is our friend. The Yankees have become our friends."

During his twelve hours' trip from Puebla to Oaxaca every village turned out to hail the friendly ambassador of a friendly country which a few years ago they had been accustomed to call slurringly "the colossus of the north."

Governor Genaro V. Vazquez of the state of Oaxaca with a group of high officials met the ambassador's train as it crossed the border from Puebla at the town of San Antonio. The population of several hundred assembled at the station, waving tissue paper flags of the United States and Mexico.

The same scene was repeated throughout the day at station after station.

THREE BANDITS SACK CANADIAN MAIL CAR TODAY

ONE ROBBER WOUNDED IN FIGHT FOLLOWING KILLING OF FARMER

PARRY SOUND. Ont. Aug. 18. (AP)—Three robbers, fleeting after holding up a mail car, routed a good natured farmer out of bed early this morning to help them when their stolen automobile got stuck in a ditch, and then shot him dead when pursuers overtook them and started battle.

Two other civilians, brothers who threw in their lot on the side of the law, were wounded by the robbers, one of whom was captured as his companions escaped into the bush.

Two of the robbers boarded the Canadian Pacific Transcontinenal train number four near Romford, backed the three unarmed mail clerks against the wall of the mail car, and systematically looted the car, riding about 30 miles before dropping off here with their plunder and joining a confederate.

They stole an automobile belonging to tourists from the United States and began their flight with the stolen mail, the value of which had not been determined several hours after the robbery.

Thomas Jackson, a farmer living near the scene of the accident, agreed to get up and haul the car back on the road, believing the robbers to be tourists. He was hitching a team of horses to the machine when a pursuit car, occupied by the owner of the stolen automobile, Lee Lyman, and Walter and Houghton Laird, who had volunteered to help him run down the robbers, appeared.

The robbers, realizing their holdup of the mail car would be revealed in connection with the theft of the automobile, opened fire and in a moment and road became the scene of a roaring gun battle in which Jackson, the Good Samaritan, was shot through the neck and almost instantly killed by a bullet from one of the robber's guns.

Walter Laird was shot through the chest and his brother through the hand. Two of the robbers then fled into the bush but one was captured and $1,725 in currency was found on him.

SECOND PRIMARY WILL BE HELD ON NEXT SATURDAY

FINAL WEEK IN RUN-OFF CAMPAIGN; ELECTION SUPPLIES ARE READY

All election supplies have been prepared and the election judges are urged to come in for the boxes for the run-off Democratic primary which is to be held Saturday of this week, according to an announcement made Saturday afternoon at the headquarters of C. H. DeLafosse, county Democratic chairman.

This week is the final week in the campaign for the second primary election. There are a number of state, county, and precinct run-off races.

Executive committee officials have pointed out that the voters in the election are urged to make a diligent effort to bring their poll tax receipts to the polls and urged that those making affidavits are supposed to take this action only after they have made a diligent effort to find their poll tax receipts and that the affidavits are for those who have lost and misplaced the receipts.

The contest between Earle B. Mayfield, senator, seeking re-election, opposed by Congressman Tom Connally of Marlin, is the headliner in the state races with considerable interest being manifested over the entire state. Mayfield spoke in Corsicana Friday afternoon for the second time during the campaign and Connally will close his campaign in Corsicana with a giant district rally here Friday night when speakers and representatives from Navarro, Ellis, Limestone, Freestone, Hill, Kaufman, Henderson, Falls, McLennan, Bosque and a number of other counties will be on hand. The Connally rally will be held at the Navarro county court house lawn at 8:15 o'clock and the addresses will be broadcast from Station WBAP, Fort Worth Star-Telegram, Fort Worth, Texas. A large number of state newspaper correspondents will be on hand to report the meeting for their respective papers. After the first primary, Congressman Tom Blanton of Abilene began actively supporting the candidacy of Connally. Alvin Owsley of Dallas, another candidate defeated in the first primary, is not taking any active part in the run-off, but Ballard W. George, Owsley's campaign manager, a resident of Corsicana, came out with a statement immediately after the first primary for Connally. Jeff McLemore of McLennan county is supporting Mayfield. James E. Ferguson, former governor of Texas and stormy petrel of Texas politics, is actively supporting Mayfield. Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, unsuccessful woman candidate for the senatorial nomination, is not taking an active part in the run-off.

Barry Miller of Dallas, lieutenant-governor, and Tom Love, also of Dallas, were left in the run-off for the lieutenant-governorship. Soon after the state Democratic executive committee certified the state ticket, Love came out with a formal statement withdrawing from the race. However, Love's name will appear on the ticket in the majority of the counties of the state, including Navarro county. Miller is continuing his speaking tour of the state and is spending considerable time speaking for the national Democratic nominees for president and vice president, Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York and Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas, respectively.

Indications are that the "regular" Democrats of Texas will make an active campaign in behalf of the national nominees against the "bolters," who are favoring the Republican candidates, Herbert Hoover of California, and Charles Curtis of Kansas. Mayfield and Connally both have indicated that they will take the stump for the Democratic nominees for the presidency and vice presidency if desired, as has Miller, who is actively supporting Smith and Robinson while Love has repeatedly declared that he will support Hoover and is to lend his support to the election of Hoover.

In the county races in Navarro county, Hawkins Scarborough, present district judge, is opposed by Warren Hicks, present county judge, for the district judgeship. Scarborough spoke in the interest of his candidacy in Kerens Thursday night in the first speech in the run-off campaign and a county wide Scarborough for District Judge rally is scheduled at the Navarro county courthouse lawn Thursday night at 8:30 o'clock. Representatives from a majority of the voting precincts of the county are expected to be present. Loud speakers will be provided so that all present can hear distinctly. Plans are being made for a large crowd. Judge Scarborough will be the principal speaker for the occasion. No speeches have been delivered by Judge Hicks, and no announcement has been made of any scheduled during the week.

It has been rumored in some quarters that James E. Ferguson may speak here one night this week in the interest of the candidacy of Mayfield, but this report has not officially been confirmed.

The Daily Sun and Semi-Weekly Light will receive and compile the returns of the election Saturday night as has been the custom of these two publications for years. Reports on the state races will be received over a special leased wire from the Texas Election Bureau and also over the full-leased Associated Press wire in the Daily Sun office. Due to the short ticket, the returns can be handled and compiled much faster than on the first primary due to the long ticket. Officials holding the elections can finish their work faster. All election officials have been ordered by County Chairman C. H. DeLafosse to telephone the Daily Sun (collect) as soon as the vote is counted so that the county returns can be tabulated on the night of the election. Three telephones are in the Sun office to handle the returns as fast as possible. Special service has been promised by the local officials of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company. The street in front of the Daily Sun office will be roped off and the returns, both county and state, will be flashed upon a screen across the street. Loud speakers will be available to give the returns to the crowds.

Clay Nash of Corsicana and Ramsey Cox of Kerens are in the run-off for the county judgeship. No rallies or speech-making has been announced in this race. In precinct No. 1, J. J. Howard and C. P. Brooks are in the run-off for constable. Both are former officers here.

In Commissioners Precinct No. 2, Ben F. Guynes is seeking re-election and is opposed by J. O. Sessions. In Commissioners Precinct 3 D. D. Sawyer of Dawson and W. H. Hartfield of Richland are in the run-off. In the rural Shade precinct, J. R. Bruner and E. E. Williamson are in the run-off for precinct chairman.

The absentee voting at the Navarro county clerk's office, has been considerably lighter this time than at the first primary. Less than 50 had cast absentee votes Saturday, but a rush may be experienced during the next few days.

Following will be the ballot:

Returns From Trip To Old Home; Found Father Doing Well

J. Kaplan, Corsicana merchant, has returned from a trip to his old home in Poland, where he went to visit his father, who is past 80 years of age and had recently been in poor health. Mr. Kaplan found his father greatly improved and doing well. In fact Mr. Kaplan said that he was doing extremely well considering conditions in that country.

Mr. Kaplan talks interestingly of the situation in Poland and is rather pessimistic as to the future of that country. He states a great number of the people there are receiving financial assistance from their relatives and friends in America and elsewhere and that the others who are not so fortunate are in a most deplorable condition. Mr. Kaplan says he loves America, her institutions and her government even more than ever since his visit back to his native land, which was the first trip in many years.

Conditions of the poor peoples of not only Poland but numerous other countries of Europe are infinitely worse since the World war, he said, than they were before. The cities of Europe are not comparable to the cities of America and there is not the slightest doubt in his mind that the United States is the greatest and best country in the world.

He spent some time in the old home where his father and a brother still reside, and stated that his brother's wife was giving his aged father every care and attention. He also has a sister residing there and visited her as well. Mr. Kaplan is frank to state that he has no desire to return to Europe to make his home and is a greater booster for America, Texas and Corsicana than ever before.

SUNDAY GOOD DAY AT FIRST METHODIST DESPITE HEAT

Services Sunday at the First Methodist church were fairly well attended considering the hot weather and the vacation period. At the Sunday school the attendance was 453 compared with 468 last Sunday. In the adult department the attendance was 117 compared with 115 last Sunday and in the Weiler Bible class the attendance was 33 compared with 32 last Sunday.

In the adult department of the Sunday school, S. J. Jackson, superintendent, presided and the principal address was made by Charles Banister, recent graduate of the law department of the State University. Mr. Banister told of the work that the Methodists were doing at the university for the religious education of Methodists who were attending the university.

In the Weiler Bible class W. A. Tarver taught the class, one visitor was introduced, Boyce Martin, presided.

At the morning church hour Rev. F. P. Culver preached from the subject, "Words Often Mispronounced." Mrs. Albert Guess sang a solo, "The Prayer Perfect," by Stevenson, and the annual offering to the superannuated preachers fund was taken. The pastor named several words that were daily misused saying that the word God should only be used in a reverent way.

At the night church hour the pastor preached from the subject, "What Is Your Name?" This was the first of four Sunday night subjects that will be used by the pastor. Music was furnished by Prof. Jackson's colored choir.

At the Senior League Prof. Jackson spoke and his choir furnished the music for this occasion.

One new member was added to the church.

DEMOCRACY FACING GRAVE CRISIS SAYS DALLAS CANDIDATE

JUDGE HARDY AND BARRY MILLER SPEAK FOR ENTIRE DEMOCRATIC TICKET

"Democracy is confronted with the greatest crisis since the day immediately following the war between the states," Barry Miller, nominee for lieutenant governer declared in his address at the court house Friday evening, urging the support of the entire democratic ticket.

W. W. Harris, local attorney, presided at the meeting, and presented the Hon. Rufus Hardy to introduce the speaker.

In his introduction, Judge Hardy said that three years ago he retired entirely from public life, but at infrequent intervals he felt called upon to return for short periods. He stated that in this instance he came back because the speaker of the evening had been campaigning against a peculiar opponent because he was a democrat running on a republican ticket.

Al Smith and Woodrow Wilson ideas on the prohibition issue were not good enough for Tom Love, he asserted, and the latter had adopted a "holier than thou" attitude that was principally the result of prejudice. He asserted that if Love could not agree with Smith on the issue then he would not have agreed with Jefferson Davis, John H. Reagan, Charles A. Culbertson, James Stephen Hogg and other leading statesmen.

Judge Hardy declared that he knew that Al Smith would support and uphold the conditions laid down by the constitution of the United States and the laws made under its provisions. He referred to the meeting now in session at Carlottesville, Va., where in the shade of Thomas Jefferson, people dared to say that no Catholic should be allowed to hold the highest office of the land.

Religious Bigotry Traced.

The speaker briefly traced the zig-zag course of religious bigotry through several decades, declaring the prohibition issue was a smoke screen for religious prejudice. He stated that as far back as he could remember, two sections of the country were always democratic—Texas and Tammany, and he expected them to remain that way. He then introduced the Hon. Barry Miller of Dallas, lieutenant governor of the state of Texas.

In his opening remarks, Miller declared that he was willing to leave the defense of democracy to Judge Hardy. He followed by saying he felt like a deserted man since the withdrawal of his opponent from the race. He feelingly expressed his gratitude to the people of Navarro county for their support of his candidacy.

He declared that he had never sought an office from the people of Texas that had paid a sufficient salary to pay the expense of holding it. But that when his friends asked him to run against Tom Love, he announced that he was ready for the task. He said that he did not come with many promises, but that he stood for support of the democratic nominee, the economical administration of the state against increasing the tax burden on the people, and favoring public school. An educated people he declared were always a free people.

Concluding his personal remarks Miller declared that he had been greatly "cussed and discussed," and that he was not as bad as he had been painted nor was he as good as he attempted to have his wife believe, but asserted that he would keep the faith, and abide by the principles of democracy.

Crisis Confronts Democracy

Democracy today is confronted with the greatest crisis since the reconstruction days following the war between the states, and the defeat of the democratic ticket this year will very likely mean that the youngest children of the present generation will not live long enough to see another democracy, the speaker continued.

He affirmed that conditions had grown steadily worse and worse because the people had stood idly by and allowed them to continue, and the true fight is on between the two ideals of government which characterizes the two great parties; the republicans advancing the theories of centralized power, benefits for the few at the expense of the many. The republican party has so impoverished the farmer that there has been a steady decrease of the farm population of the United States during the past fifteen years, and there is more unemployment and resultant distress in the United States today than ever before because of the lack of sympathy of the party in power for the toiler, the speaker declared.

Democratic principles hold equal rights for every man and offer him civil and religious liberty. This partly holds the rights of the states inalienable, although these rights have been seriously infringed upon and have gone unnoticed.

Ideals of Democracy.

Miller brought long applause from his audience when he declared that the time had come when the youth of the land should learn the principles of the party and be able to say that they are democrats because of the ideals which the body holds, and not merely because their fathers and families have been democrats.

As an example of the infringement upon the rights of the states, the lieutenant governor pointed out the attempt of the state of Texas to pass a law zoning the state for the hunting of doves. After it had been passed by the legislature it was discovered that it conflicted with a federal statute and the consent of the department of agriculture was needed before it could be legal. He declared that because ducks had the habit of flying from state to state, they had been placed under the control of the interstate commission and that body regulated the seasons on them. The fundamental rights of the people are seriously endangered the speaker declared.

In answer to the question as to how the people of Texas were meeting the situation, Miller said that many were allowing their judgment to be blinded and prejudiced with two issues that are totally foreign to the campaign. When they say that Alfred E. Smith will repeal the eighteenth amendment, the people are either past the limits of prejudice, the speaker continued. He scored Bishop John W. Moore of Dallas as a man blinded by religious intolerance.

Pro Amendment Safe.

In accepting the democratic nomination, Smith said that he favored modification of the laws enforcing the amendment, Miller stated, and the view was held in common with many of the leading statesmen. "But the eighteenth amendment is as stably fixed in the constitution of the United States as the Ten commandments are a part of the Bible and you will come nearer removing the commandments than you will erasing the amendment."

If the people are satisfied with the way the amendment is being enforced at present, they are the easiest group in the world.

Miller declared that the personal integrity of Smith would enforce the laws even without modification and scoffed at the idea that the measures could be repealed easily when it was necessary for a two-thirds vote of both branches of congress to take such a step, and those men in congress were elected by the people at large giving them control of the law making body.

The opposition to Al Smith is strictly because he is a Roman Catholic the speaker declared, and a study of the tragedies caused by the injection of religious prejudice into governmental questions would show the folly of such action. The speaker declared that he would never support Al Smith if it could be shown where he had once taken his religion into his government. He asserted on the other hand that out of the governor's cabinet of sixteen, thirteen were Protestants, two Catholic and one a Jew, and that nine of his members were high Masons, and one of them a republican.

Smith Not Controlled.

The statement that Smith is run by Tammany Hall is false for Smith rather runs Tamamny; the speaker briefly reviewed the controversy between Smith and Tammany over the selection of Hearst for candidate to the United States senate in which Tammany was forced to withdraw.

"Texas democrats can't vote the republican ticket when they stop to think,' Miller shouted. He attacked the republican platform with its avowed intention of passing the Dyer anti-lynching law which would transfer any man implicated in a riot or lynching to the jurisdicton of a federal court from the state courts. The same amendment to the constitution which make illegal the laws which the South has requiring separate coaches and separate schools for the white and black races. Judge Hardy arose and declared that his last two years in congress were spent fighting this issue which is being brought up again.

Declaring that America is a white man's country and will always be such Miller launched an attack on Hoover's order abolishing the color restrictions in his department. He said that the move was purely political, but the action was unthinkable when it put a burly black man in a position to give orders to a 20-year old white girl stenographer.

He closed his address with an appeal to all thinking people and to the farmers and labor to support the straight democratic ticket. see a smile in the White House."

He and the democratic nominee were not in agreement on some questions "widely considered," Walsh said, but he thought "it were vain to look for a candidate with convictions representing millions of voters who likewise have convictions and agreeing with them all on all questions."

The most that can be hoped for, he believes, is "that he shall be with them on fundamentals—that on the whole he shall be found more satisfactory to them than his opponent."

After praising the governor's geniality as "irresistible" and his intellectual processes as "refreshingly clear," Walsh directed a bitter attack against the republican presidential candidate and the democratic bolter without mentioning their names.

Apparently referring to former Senator Owen, of Oklahoma, the Montanan asserted that "an honored but more or less erratic democrat from the west who served with distinction with me in the senate has gone over to the republican party by reason of Gov. Smith's affiliation with Tammany—cheerfully or decidedly aligning himself with an organization that avidly avails itself of the aid of the Vare and Mellon machines in Pennsylvania and the Big Bill machine in Illinois, all three of which made contributions of moment to the choice of candidates with whom my friend casts his fortunes."

"If one is to be judged by his political associates, how shall the republican nominee escape condemnation?" he asked..

Walsh was an overnight guest at the executive mansion. With his departure, Governor Smith wiped his engagement list clear for the week as far as conferences were concerned. Tonight he will attend a dinner to be given in his honor by the newspapermen assigned to cover his campaign.

CONSUMER'S DOLLAR WILL GO LONG WAY IN CORSICANA THIS FALL, SAY LOCAL MERCHANTS

The consumers' dollar will go a long way in Corsicana this fall and goods made possible by close and will find a wonderful range of intelligent buying, it was pointed out in a statement from the Trade Extension committee representing the Chamber of Commerce and Retail Merchants Association Friday. Expensive premiums to attract trade will not be recommended to Corsicana merchants as a feature of the fall trade program.

There is a feeling among the business men who have served on this committee that the merchant has two obligations as a business man and as a citizen; first, that the merchants perform an essential service to the community in assembling quality goods with good values to the purchasers; and second, to co-operate with those enterprises, such as the agricultural program, which seek to increase the purchasing power of the buying public. Organizations of Corsicana represented largely by business men, are rededicating themselves to these policies.

Clyde Foster, associate chairman of the committee, has presided at the conferences in the absence of Chairman Sydney Marks.

"At the suggestion of Festus Pierce president of the Retail Merchants association, the Trade Extension committee for the past four weeks has held a series of conferences and made investigation of unusual plans to attract business. It was pointed out by Mr. Pierce that certain towns of Texas have been in the habit of offering large prizes as a co-operative method among the merchants of enticing grossly misinformed or they are trade to these cities and it was on his recommendation that the Trade Extension committee went rather thoroughly into the matter to determine whether such inducements appeal to the buying public and are profitable to the stores.

Investigate Premiums.

In summarizing the committee conferences, Mr. Foster said:

"In an effort to evidence the appreciation that wel feel as Corsicana merchants to our customers both in the city and out of town, Mr. Festus Pierce, president of the Retail Merchants association, took the iniative in suggesting that we make a thorough study of premium offers made in certain towns of Texas and on the basis of the information received we have given rather thoroughly study to the subject, and the committee's conclusions are substantially as follows:

Adopt Resolutions.

"First: That the merchants of Corsicana rededciate their energies to better merchandising to the end that the customer may have a wider choice and sounder values.

"Second: That we do not believe that any artificial prize plan can take the place of good values.

"Third: That in our Trade Extension activities throughout this area shall in no sense be directed against the community merchant in our neighboring towns, but shall be based on the policy 'if you can't buy it at home—Come to Corsicana."

These conclusions were adopted unanimously by the committee Thursday on the motion of Festus A. Pierce and seconded by F. E. McPherson.

DETOUR COMPLETED TO WESTERN SECTOR VIA FOURTH AVENUE

Jack Megarity, commissioner of precincit No. 1 announced Saturday morning that a detour had been completed on the State Home road for the traffic from Corsicana to Blooming Grove, Barry, Frost and Hillsboro via Fourth avenue. The detour comes back into the main highway at the Filling station at the intersection of the Pinkston pike and the State Home road and traffic out that way is not having any trouble now.

The main highway toward the State Home is closed to traffic while the concrete slab is being poured by F. P. McElwrath, contractor.

To the Voters and Citizens of Navarro County, Texas

During the first primary campaign I was referred too by my opponent as being a gentleman, conducting my campaign on a high plane, clear of all mud slinging, but since I am left in the run-off with him, my political enemies have made and are making and will continue to make during the remainder of this campaign various and sundry charges against me for the purpose of prejudicing the minds of the voters and to injure me politically. I desire to state that all of these charges are wholly untrue, most of them being so preposterous and unreasonable as to become merely jokes, but I desire to answer two of them in order that no voter may be mislead. First, it is charged by my political enemies that I am a member of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. Second, it is charged that I made the statement that no laboring man should receive more than two dollars and fifty cents per day for his services.

In reply to the first charge I wish to state over my sworn signature that I am not now and have never been a member of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, and that I have never made application for membership in that order. In reply to the second charge I wish to state over my sworn signature that I did not make the statement regarding price per day for labor and further that I have done manual labor myself, and believe the laborer is entitled to all he receives and in many instances much more than he receives.

Subschibed to and sworn to before me this the 8th day of August 1928.

PRICE RECOVERY IN STOCK MARKET WAS RESUMED MONDAY

BULLISH ENTHUSIASM CREATED BY EVIDENCE OF IMPROVING BUSINESS

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The recovery in stock prices which set in last week was resumed at the opening of today's market. A brisk demand again developed for railroad shares. St. Louis Southwestern moved to a new high record at 59 3-4, and Reading, "Katy" common, Rock Island and Canadian Pacific showed gains of a point or two. Gains of a point or so also were recorded by American Smelting, Chrysler, Consolidated, Gas and Radio. Allied Chemical broke three points and General Motors and Columbia Gas each yielded one in the early trading.

Bullish enthusiasm was created by evidence of improving business conditions contained in the weekly trade reviews, and by the excellent character of a majority of the earnings reports now being publish. Heavy accumulation of the rails, based on expectations of increased freight traffic in the last quarter of the year, also had a cheerful effect on speculative sentiment.

St. Louis Southwestern crossed par for thef irst time in its history and Texas & Pacific moved into new high ground at 182 1-4. St. Paul preferred, Frisco common, Southern Railway and Union Pacific were quickly bid up a point or more. Lehigh Valley dropped 3 points.

In the industrial division, new peak prives for the year or longer were registered by American Can, Corn Products, Purity Baking, Grand Union, common and preferred and Eaton Axle. International Telephone quickly extended its gain to nearly three points and National Cash Register, Commercial Solvents, Case Threshing Machine and Crucible Steel sold two or more points higher. Renewed weakness developed in General Motors, which rapidly sold down two and one-helf points, but this selling failed to stem the upward movement in other quarters.

Foreign exchanges opened steady with sterling cables quoted around $4.85 5-16.

Polls were not intimidated when the call money rate mounted to 7 1-2 per cent and American Can was bid up to 107 3-8 and Rock Island to 124, surpassing previous records. Midland Steel products preferred rose 14 points and material advances were registered by Purity Baking, Matheson Alkali, Cudahay Packing, Warner Brothers "A." and Best and company. Some late selling caused mixed tendencies at the close.

THREE CONVICTS BURNED RECENTLY RETURNED TO FARM

HOUSTON, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Three convicts, burned in a fire at Blue Ridge prison farm on July 28, today were back on the farm. They had recovered sufficiently from the injuries to return; attendants at the hospital here, where the convicts had been kept, said.

Five other convicts still are in the hospital. Three others died.

The convicts were burned while watching a movie in the prison dining hall. One of their number tossed a lighted match into a box of movie film, which exploded, scattering the blazing film through the room. The prisoners were burned before they could be liberated.

New Orleans Cotton Steady

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The cotton market opened barely steady with active months showing a loss of one point from Saturday's close. As Liverpool cables were higher than expected prices recovered 7 to 8 points with October at 18.08 and December at 18.19.

This bulge attracted profit taking and despite rainy weather over the belt realizing persisted until prices showed losses of 38 points compared wth opening. Near the end of the first hour offerings appeared to be absorbed, and some covering by satisfied longs carried the market back 9 to 11 points from the lows.

The market ruled erratic for the remainder of the morning session with prices fluctuating frequently within the earlier range but always near the lows.

Prices experienced another sinking spell near mid-session under a renewal of speculative selling, some of which appeared to be for foreign account. October traded off to 17.76 and December 17.85 or 25 to 28 points below Saturday's close.

New York Cotton Steady.

NEW YORK, Aug 20.—(AP)—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of seven points to a decline of two points. Initial demand based on relatively steady cables and reports of rains or showers in the eastern belt, was quickly supplied by a renewal of the selling of late last week. The appeared to come from commission houses and brokers with Wll Street connections, while some stop orders were uncovered. December sold off to 18.26, with active months generally selling about 30 to 34 points below Saturday's close. Offerings tapered of after the executive of the stock orders, however, and the market became quieter, with prices steadier.

Futures closed, 5 points higher to 5 lower: October 18.62-64; Dec. 18.55-57; Jan. 18.53-54; March 19.60-62; May 18.63 Spot steady; middling 18.85.

Grain and Provisions

CHICAGO, Aug. 20—(AP)—Much lower Liverpool quotations than looked for led to an early setback in wheat values here. Pressure of hedging sales to protect holders of newly harvested wheat was in evidnce.

Opening 5-8 to 1 3-8c off, Chicago wheat later underwent a moderate further drop. Corn prices developed firmness, starting at 1-8c decline to 1-4c advance and subsequently scoring a material gain for September delivery. Oats were easy, provisions held steady.

In connection with unexpected weakness shown today by the Liverpool wheat market, advices were at hand expressing great optimism regarding the Australian crop outlook. Preliminary estimates given, placed the probable Australian yield at around 200,000,000 bushels this season, compared with 100,000,000 bushels last year and 164,000,00 bushels two years ago. On the other hand, world shipments to Great Britain at present were described as light.

Wheat closed heavy 1 1-2c to 2 1-4c net lower, corn ranging from 1-8c decline to 3-4c advance, oats a shade to 3-8c off and provisions unchanged to a rise of 2 @ 5c.

Assertions that 3,000,000 bushels of corn had been worked for export out of Kansas City attracted special notice among corn traders. Receipts of corn in Chicago today totaled only 71 cars and reports current said corn in Italy is higher than wheat. At the same time, oats in Chicago today sold under the lowest prices which September and December deliveries had hretofor touched this season.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS FIRE CAUSING DEATH MAN AND LITTLE BOY

AUSTIN, Aug. 17. (AP)—No explanation was apparent today for a residence fire in which Jesse C. Maners, 55-year-old wagon checker, and Forest Edward Hooker, his three-year-old grandson, were burned to death shortly after midnight.

There was no electric lights in the house.

Maners lost his life trying to recover the body of the child. Neighbors tried to hold Maners back when he come out of the house with a mattress. He thrust the mattress against them, however, and ran back in. His body was found near the boy's iron bed.

George Jenkins, 20-year-old negro, was painfully lacerted in the leg when he fell from a bedroom window attempting to enter the house and warn the occupants, who seemed not to have been awakened until after the blaze was well started. P. F. Pettibon, automobile liveryman, passing by, crawled about the burning house on his hands and knees in a vain effort to rescue Maners.

The victims' wife, 10-year-old son and a year-old granddaughter escaped. Mrs. Maners stumbled and fell down a flight of 10 steps with the baby in her arms, but neither was hurt.

Mrs. Edith Hocker, mother of the boy victim, was away from home spending the night with a sister.

ed for he weather conditions confronting the flyers in the Greenland area, and the Mt. Evans operator got the official weather forecaster out of bed to provide the information.

The report as wirelessed to Mix was: "Temperature 55; maximum 58; partly cloudy all day (Sunday); surface wind east of 20 miles; barometer 28:45; fair weather.

Mix, who four years ago was in the Greenland territory as radio man on the Donald MacMillan expedition, said the Greater Rockford might have reached Greenland but missed Mt. Evans, being forced to pick a landing place somewhere along the rocky coast line. In such event, Mix said, it would be days before the Hassell and Cramer could get word of their safe descent to the outside world, for Greenland is sparsely populated, and there are only a few wireless sets there.

Anxiety Increased.

Anxiety for the safety of the flyers was increased by a message from Elmer Etes, mechanic sent ahead to Greenland to await arrival of the plane. It was to the Rockford chamber of commerce and said:

"No sign of Hassell yet. Long overdue. Etes."

The Greater Rockford took off Thursday from Rockford and made the flight to Cochrane, Ont., without incident. Starting the second leg of the journey at noon Saturday, the plane appeared to be making slower time than it had on the flight from Rockford to Cochrane. Reporting its position over Fort George river, 398 miles from Cochrane, at 5 o'clock, central standard time, the plane was making only about 69 miles a hour. An hour later it wirelessed it was passing over Apiskigamish Lake, 526 miles from Cochrane, and the average speed was approximately 77 miles an hour.

Several hours passed before further word came from the plane, the reason probably being that a strong Gibraltar station, communicating with a station in Canada, set up intereference that shut out reception of the Greater Rockfard's signals. Finally, at 3 a. m., Sunday, there came the message that the plane was 75 miles off Cape Chidley, over Davis Straits—the final and most hazardous quarter of the hop.

Rockford Is Worried.

At Rockford, where the good will flight plans were born and financed, anxiety increased as the hours stretched long without word of Hassell and Cramer. The plane was due at Mt. Evans at about 8 a. m., central standard time. When communnication was established with Mt. Evans, however, and word came that Hassell had not arrived, the city became alarmed.

Mrs. Hassell, the flyer's wife and mother of his three small children, has remained at her home, buoyed by the message her husband telephoned her just before the hop-off from Cochrane Saturday: "Don't worry, darling. We'll make it all right."

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Growing anxiety was felt today for the safety of Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, good will flyers from Rockford, Ill., to Stockholm, Sweden, after more than 30 hours had elapsed since last radio signals from the aviators were heard.

The plane was last heard from Sunday morning at 4 a. m., Chicago daylight time, when a Madison, Wis., radio operator intercepted signals sent from the plane then flying from Cochrane, Ontario, to Mt. Evans, Greenland. These signals indicated the flyers at that time were 75 miles off Cape Chidley, flying over Davis Straits, and had completed about three-quarters of the 1,600 mile trip from Rockford to Mt. Evans.

As hours continued to pass without any word from the aviators, the most optimistic ventured the opinion that the Rockford fliers had reached Greenland and made a forced landing in which event days might elapse before they made their way to some point to communicate with the outside world.

The fliers in their big monoplane, "Greater Rockford," left Rockford Thursday, making the hop to Cochrane without incident and started the second leg Saturday noon after which there were infrequent signals from the plane until Sunday morning.

Cutter to Search.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. —(AP)— Search for the plane Greater Rockford is to be made by the coast guard cutter Marion, now in the vicinity of the route which the fliers planned to follow on their trip to Sweden.

Rear Admiral Billard, coast guard commandant, has ordered the Marion, in command of Lieutenant Commander Edward H. Smith, to take up the quest. The Marion has been between the American coast and Greenland for more than a month. She last reported that she was off Cape Chidley, Labrador.

FOLLOWERS OF VENIZELOS ARE VICTORIOUS IN SUNDAY'S PARLIAMENTARY ELECTIONS

ATHENS, Greece, Aug. 20.—(AP)— Followers of Premier Venizelos were victorious in yesterday's parliamentary elections. It is probable they will occupy 170 of the 250 seats in the chamber of deputies.

Venizelos won his election contest in Piraeus and his son with 21 other Venizelists was elected in Athens. Among the victorious candidates is M. Papanastastiou, former premier. M. Vozikis, leader of the extreme royalists, was defeated.

Aside from rough handling of George Kafandaris, former minister of finance, by his political opponents, little disorder of consequence attended the voting.

Venizelos, a Liberal, became premier July 3 after resignation of the Zaimis cabinet, and insisted upon dissolution of parliament and election of a new one by majority vote, abolishing the old proportional representation.

Despite protests by the Royalists who opposed the innovations sponsored by Venizelos, the premier's recommendations were approved by President Paul Kondouriotis, and a decree dissolving parliament and fixing new elections for August 19 was issued July 6.

In the last parliament the Republican parties had a total of 157 seats while the Royalists held 116.

The elections were preceded by a disturbance Saturday night when one of the followers of Theodorus Pangalos, former dictator, fired into a crowd in front of the Pangalos headquarters, wounding four Venizelists.

General Theodorus Pangalos, bitter opponent of Venezelos, was overwhelmingly defeated in his candidicy for representation of Athens in the new chamber of deputies. In some precincts he failed to receive a vote.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY OCCURRED EARLY MONDAY IN DALLAS

Mrs. Wilson worked testified the couple quarrelled yesterday.

Simerly was fully dressed when the shooting occurred. A suitcase packed with clothing was found near his body. Mrs. Wilson was clothed in a nightgown.

Nothing was known of what transpired at the Wilson home immediately preceding the shooting. Dorothy and two other children, Mary Francis and J. R. Wilson, were not awakened until the first shot was fired. C. B. Walker, father of Mrs. Wilson, took the three children to his home. Police were unable to locate relatives of Simerly. He had been rooming at the Wilson home for several weeks, neighbors said.

Mrs. Billie Turner, another waitress at the cafe where Mrs. Wilson was employed, said today that Simerly had been trying to get Mrs. Wilson to marry him. The shooting occurred soon after the couple left the cafe at midnight.

Coolidge Devoted Efforts Monday to Shooting Targets

SUPERIOR, Wis., Aug. 20.—(AP) —The trout in the Brule around Cedar Island Lodge had a rest today, thanks to the targets on the estate.

They had a hard time of it with President Coolidge blazing away at them with a 12 guage repeating shut gun. He broke 24 out of 25 before he was interrupted by rain.

Mr. Coolidge had done no shooting for years before coming to the north woods. but apparently he has not forgotten what he learned about a gun in his youth.

"I have had a friend there."

Dr. Dowling insists his term of office has some time yet to run and Governor Long contends it has expired. The appointment was made today by the governor.

INTERNATIONAL SPOTLIGHT TURNED ON PARIS; STATESMEN OF WORLD GATHER ON TREATY

By MELVIN E. COLEMAN
(Cable Editor, Associated Press.)

International spotlights have turned on Paris where shortly statesmen of fifteen nations will gather to affix signatures to the Kellogg pact renouncing war as an instrument of national policy. The formality is likely to be followed by a deal of talk on results that may be expected or additional steps that thinkers believe should be undertaken

Advocates of disarmament have appeared regularly in the discussions that have preceded the signing. Russian thought is that unless armies and navies are scrapped the treaty will be a mere gesture. Germany considers that the pact will be ineffective unless other powers reduce their forces to something near the limit imposed on that country by the treaty of Versailles.

China and Japan.

"Postponement" became the keyword in the Japanese-Chinese situation. Baron Gonsuke Hayashi, special envoy of Japan to the funeral of Chang Tso-Lin, assassinated war lord of Manchuria, returned from Mukden and announced that Chang's son and successor had told him he would put off the junction of the three-provinced dependency to the nationalist government at Nanking for at least three years.

This was accompanied by reports that a new note sent to Tokyo from Nanking constituted a withdrawal of the notice abrogating the automatically renewable treaty of 1906 between Japan and the old Peking regime. Japan had previously indicated she might be willing to discuss treaty revision with the Nationalists but not until the latter had given up thought of immediate changes in the status quo.

Jugoslavia Situation.

An attempt to postpone developments in Jugoslavia was less successful. Adjournment of the government wing of the national assembly after ratifying the Nettuno treaties with Italy and a similar cessation of the Croatian "home rule" meeting in Zagreb, have been followed by fresh outbreaks.

There have been demonstrations in Dalmatian cities against the treaties, centering upon Italians because the pacts allow citizens of Italy to own lands on the eastern litoral of the Adriatic.

Indirect advices from Albania said that the government had won the elections there. This voting was preliminary to the plan to turn Albania from a republic to a monarchy

In Asia aspirations of Syria were halted by insistence of the Nationalists that Palestine and trans-Jordania be included in the boundaries of the projected state. As Syria is a French mandate and the other countries are under British control, the French resident could not satisfy that demand. He adjourned the assembly for three months.

India's "all parties" conference at Simla favored a dominion form of government for that country which would place the peninsula on a political par with Canada and Australia.

Latin-American Affairs.

In Latin-America several incidents were cleared up. Venezuelan political refugees were given permission by the Dutch West Indies colonial government to journey on instead of being handed over to the Venezuelan government. In Brazil a big force of Vigilantes ended disturbed conditions in the diamond fields of Matto Grosso by driving the malcontents into the neighboring state of Guyaz.

The Colombian congress decided that liquor restriction laws should go into effect in October as previously planned, defeating an effort to postpone them for a year.

A report from Honduras that American marines had arrested Nicaraguan rebels in that country turned out to be a visit of an official party from Nicaragua charged with assisting in the repatriation of refugees who had been forced from their homes across the border by bandits.

FAMILY BEACH IS OPPOSED LAXITY OF DEAUVILLE

LE PORTEL. France.—(AP)— French beach policemen make up in severity here for the liberties of costume permitted on fashionable beaches like Deauville. No persons in bathing suits are allowed on the beach of this little family resort on the Channel except at the specified bathing hours. Old-fashioned suits are the rule. Bathers wearing sleeveless suits are obliged to leave the beach and the nude sun bathers common on the Normandy and Basque coasts are unknown.

Magnolia Petroleum company officials also said retail purchasers of Magnolia would get the benefit of the one cent tax decrease.

Abilene is Marked That Flyers May be Able Identify Town

ABILENT, Aug . 20.—(AP)—Air travelers will have no trouble in the future in identifying Abilene or in locating Kinsolving field, the city's airport.

The name of the city has been painted on the roof of four buildings in various parts of the city in letters 12 feet high. One of the signs is on the roof of the ten story Hilton hotel; others are on Smith Hall at Simms University, the Automobile building at the West Texas fair park and a large warehouse on the "Broadway of America' 'highway.

This building also will have a direction indicator on the north end of the roof.

BELIEVED SOVIETS CAUSED UPRISING AGAINST JAPANESE

TOKRO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Japanese military circles believe the Mongolian uprising against Chinese authority in the District of Kulunor was instigated by Soviet sources. They intimate that Japan may be compelled to give serious attention to the situation if the movement results in Soviet control being extended Outer Mongolia to Inner oMngolia.

Official Japanese dispatches describe the disturbances as resulting from an attempt of Mongol Buriat tribesmen to win their independence from China. These advices give the separatist movement a local character.

The fastest previous time for a transcontinental flight was twenty-one hours and 48 minutes, made by Lieut. Russell L. Maugham in 1924, that however, was not a non-stop flight. Maugham's route was from New York to San Francisco and five stops were made en route for refueling.

CLEBURNE, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Morris Hopkins, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hopkins, three miles west of Cleburne, vanished in the night and a search had failed to solve the mystery of his disappearance up to noon Monday. Hopkins was missed early Monday morning.
